Six Perish In Murder, Suicide Plot

FOUR TOTS SLAIN BY RANCHER

Oregon Man Shoots Five Members of Family and Self, Fires Home

BODIES FOUND IN BLACKENED RUINS

Authorities Puzzled As to Cause Back of Wholesale Death Orgy

(By United Press Leased Wire)

BEND, Ore., Oct. 23.—Slaying five members of his household, then setting fire to the residence and shooting himself, Eli Chasse, rancher, near Deschutes, Oregon, today exterminated his entire family, according to the interpretation given the tragedy by investigating authorities.

Six charred and unrecognizable bodies were taken from the ruins of the burned structure, while a revolver found beside Chasse gave strength to the murder and suicide theory.

The dead are: Eli Chasse, French Canadian rancher, his three children, Wilfred, 9; Viola, 7; and a smaller child, whose name is unknown; Mrs. Anna Lordee, Chasse's widow; and his baby, Rita, 3.

Bodies of Mrs. Lordee and her infant were found in the bedroom; those of two of the children in another, while the blackened remains of the third child and its father were on the kitchen floor.

Neighbors passing the house early today discovered that it had been burned almost to the ground.

Coroner C. H. Newsinger and Sheriff S. E. Roberts were notified. They searched the ruined structure, discovering the bodies.

Little is known of the Chasses. They came to this vicinity only a short time ago and spoke but few words of English. Their former home is unknown to officers here.

Pope Pines In Rome for Chance To Return to His Beloved Alps

ROME, Oct. 23.—The Pope's recent letter to the Bishop of Anagni, eulogizing St. Bernard and naming him patron saint of the mountain climbers, has reminded the public that the two long years of seclusion inside the walls of the Vatican have not been sufficient to kill in the Pope's breast the love of life in the open.

It is no secret that Pius XI. accepted his election to the throne of St. Peter only as a duty imposed on him by The Almighty. A man of exuberant vitality, compelled by his duties as teacher and librarian in charge of an exhausting research work in Milan first and Rome afterwards to observe long office hours, his only diversion was a walk of several miles at the end of his day's work. Mountain climbing was a passion with him. As he said in his letter, the contemplation of nature from an Alpine peak is the wholesomest of pleasure and it places man nearer to his Creator.

Ruins Left By Bold Mail Bandits After Killing 4 Trainmen

These few pieces of twisted wood and steel mutely tell the story of the recent sensational Southern Pacific holdup in a tunnel near Ashland, Ore. The debris is all that remains of the mail car the bandits dynamited. Three trainmen and a mail clerk were killed in the robbery.

HINT BOOZE GANG WAR WHEN COUPLE MURDERED AT INN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—Richard Grant, 45, Chicago, and his 25 year old wife, Rose, walked into the Plantation Inn at Wellston, near here, early today, and ordered drinks. Their chauffeur, Wilbur Stalnaker, sat at the table with them.

Three robbers came in and staged a holdup. One bandit stuck a gun close to the chauffeur, who knocked him aside. The bandit backed off and shot Stalnaker through the stomach.

The bandit backed off and shot Stalnaker through the stomach. Mrs. Grant screamed and ran. One of the bandits shot her through the back of the head, killing her instantly.

Grant threw his hands in front of him, as if to ward off the bullets and the bandits shot him five times through the body. He died at once.

Stalnaker's condition is critical. The bandits escaped.

Stalnaker told police Grant had done a bootlegging business between Chicago and St. Louis for some time. Police believe that the shooting may have been connected with a rum running fight.

Drop of Mark Saves Gamblers Huge Sum

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—A year and a half ago, when the mark was still something to carry around as a medium of exchange, a group of poker players were arrested during a session. A half year later they were tried. Each was fined 15,000 marks—quite a sum in those days. Today—after a year—they received their money back to pay 15,000 marks plus 3,000 marks court costs. And 15,000 marks today is one-tenth of a mill gold.

Rotary Aid Assured

Earl Morrow, president of the Rotary club, said that as many as every Rotarian of Santa Ana is a member of the Chamber of Commerce the co-operation of the Rotary club during the drive is assured.

A pledge of co-operation from the Lions' club was given by Harry Hansen, president of that organization.

O. H. Barr, president of the Kiwanis club, assured the campaign committee and workers of the wholehearted support of the club he represented. Mrs. A. J. Crookshank, president of the Elbell club, briefly outlined the purposes and the work of that organization. She said that the club had the civic improvement of the city always at heart and was anxious and willing to give the Chamber of Commerce every co-operation possible during the drive.

CLAIMS CLARK MYSTERY DIGGER

FATHER, TWO DAUGHTERS AIR ROW

Care of Sister, Declared Incompetent, Is Cruz of Startling Suit

A family disagreement, said to be of long standing was being aired in the superior court here today with the trial before Judge Z. E. West of two civil actions, one brought by Emma Meger, against her father, G. Meger, and the other brought by the father against his two daughters, Emma Meger and Hulda Hemmerling.

In one action the daughter, Emma, acting as guardian of her sister Olga, asserted to be an incompetent, sought to compel the father to provide for Olga. The complaint declared that he owned property worth $25,000 and asked that he be ordered to pay $75 per month to the support of the daughter, Olga.

Meger's answer alleged that he had entered an agreement whereby the daughters, Emma and Hulda, undertook for a valuable consideration to care for their sister.

Meger's suit against his daughters demands restoration of furniture and household goods valued at $2,000, to which he claimed ownership and which he declared were unlawfully held by the daughters, who, he alleged, refused to yield possession. The property in question is situated on a ranch between Anaheim and Garden Grove. Meger asked return of the property or an alternative judgment of $2,000, with $1,000 additional as damages.

Attorneys Ames and McFadden, Anaheim, and Clyde Bishop, Santa Ana, represent Emma Meger and Hulda Hemmerling. Attorney A. E. Koopel, Santa Ana, appeared for Meger. The trial today was held in one of the district attorney's chambers, Judge West's courtroom being occupied by a jury trial of a criminal case.

G. OF C. DRIVE AID PLEDGED AT DINNER

Wit oratory and enthusiasm marked the Chamber of Commerce membership and service fund drive banquet held last night at campaign headquarters, Fifth and Sycamore streets. R. L. Bisby was toastmaster and director of ceremonies.

During the serving of dinner vaudeville performers from the Y. Theater entertained the guests. After the dinner Bisby briefly outlined the purpose of the week's drive.

Bisby said: "It is appropriate that the Chamber of Commerce has designated this as Expansion Week. The city has expanded in area, homes, business houses, population and bank deposits. In order to keep abreast of this expansion it is necessary that the Chamber of Commerce expand."

Charles Chapman, representing the Santa Ana board of trustees, pledged the aid of the city during the drive.

Rotary Aid Assured. Earl Morrow, president of the Rotary club, said that as many as every Rotarian of Santa Ana is a member of the Chamber of Commerce the co-operation of the Rotary club during the drive is assured.

A pledge of co-operation from the Lions' club was given by Harry Hansen, president of that organization. O. H. ### Trio Plans to Hike Across Bay On Skis

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Three men are going to walk across San Francisco bay tomorrow—on the water, so they say. A. N. Sheldon has invented "water skis" with which he has walked short distances on water. This time he hopes to make a real demonstration across the seven miles of brine.

D. F. Sheldon, brother of the inventor, and Rev. W. W. Reilly, will accompany Sheldon. A row boat will go alongside to prevent accidents.

CHARGES OIL BARONS BACK OF GOVERNOR

Ousted Oklahoma Official Tells of Campaign Funds; Delay Vote Until Wednesday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 23.—Large sums were contributed by leading oil men to the campaign to elect J. C. Walton governor of Oklahoma, according to evidence read in the impeachment proceedings against the governor in the lower house of the legislature today. Dr. E. T. Bynum, former state bank commissioner, ousted by Walton, testified that C. J. Wrightman, Tulsa oil man, gave a total of $18,000 to the Walton campaign fund.

Indications today were that a vote on the impeachment of Walton would not be taken until tomorrow, house leaders said.

LYDD GEORGE VISITS TOMB OF HARDING

(By United Press Leased Wire) CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—Lloyd George, war time British premier, came to Cleveland shortly before noon today with another strenuous program before him.

En route here from Indianapolis, Lloyd George and his party stopped at Marion, O., and laid a wreath upon the tomb of the late Warren G. Harding.

Lloyd George put on the bier of the late President Harding, a wreath bearing a card on which was written, "With deep respect from three citizens of the old world on a visit to the new."

He and Dame Margaret and Miss Megan then were driven to White Oaks Farm where Mrs. Florence Harding, the late President's widow, received them. Mrs. Harding, looking remarkably well, chatted with them for a few minutes.

Mrs. Harding's hair is now virtually snow white but otherwise she looks about the same as she did on the day of the funeral in Marion. They talked of the late President. There were traces of tears in the eyes of Dame Margaret and Miss Megan when they came out of the cottage and even Lloyd George's eyes were suspiciously bright.

Grayson Says My Own Suffering from Cold

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—My Own, Admiral Cary T. Grayson's three-year-old, is suffering from a cold, contracted on his journey to New York last Friday at the request of the Jockey Club, and may not be able to start in either the $25,000 Washington Handicap at Laurel next Saturday, or against Zev in the Latonia championship on November 3. Admiral Grayson announced today.

FLAMES SWEEP RAIL YARDS IN DULUTH

(By United Press Leased Wire) DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 23.—A spectacular fire was raging in the railroad district here late today, menacing large buildings over a wide area. The blaze, starting in the plant of the Cutler-Magner company, dealers in railroad supplies, spread rapidly. Salt, lime and cement were consumed. All fire apparatus in the city was called out to check the flames. Three explosions followed in the wake of the fire. Buildings nearby were shaken on their foundations. Several employees were believed in the building.

PRISONER IS ACCUSED BY L. A. MAN

Surprise Witness Tells of Strange Actions of San Diego Suspect

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—A newspaper photograph of E. Drew Clark, now being held in county jail on a charge of forgery in connection with the mysterious disappearance of George E. Schick, wealthy San Diego realtor, has been identified as that of a man seen digging near the coast highway a few miles north of Ensenada, Lower California, early last February.

Positive identification was made by Frank Moore, Los Angeles mechanic, according to Sheriff Byers, who announced the man will be brought to San Diego to face Clark.

According to the story told police in Los Angeles by Moore and then forwarded to Sheriff Byers, Moore was driving to Ensenada last February. He said it was about dusk when he saw two figures near an automobile, just off the highway. He stopped, he said, and went over to the couple, the man he identified as Clark, and a woman, and asked for a match.

Man Had Shovel. Moore said the man had a shovel in his hands and was engaged in digging a hole.

Moore said he struck up a conversation with the couple, according to Byers, and asked about staying over night in Ensenada. He said he was advised not to go there.

Believing their machine was stalled Moore told the couple he was a mechanic and started toward the automobile to look it over, he said.

The woman ran and jumped into the back seat, Moore said. She informed him that everything was in good running order and that he need not examine the machine.

May Visit Spot. Moore said he then returned to his own automobile and drove to Ensenada.

Moore is expected in San Diego today.

Identification is established, it is said, Moore will be asked to lead the investigators to the spot near Ensenada where the man was digging in the hope of discovering new evidence.

That Mrs. Schick's defense against the charge of forgery under which she is held at the county jail, following the mysterious disappearance of her husband will be that in forging the instrument she was under the hypnotic influence of E. Drew Clark, it was announced here today by Adam Thompson, her attorney, after an interview with his client. Thompson announced that four physicians, Drs. T. C. Little, H. F. Andrews, R. O. Shelton and R. G. Hulbert, had been engaged to examine Mrs. Schick and testify as experts in the trial.

Will Fight Suit. Thompson also announced that his client will fight the suit brought by Martin J. Schick, the missing capitalist's brother, to subject to Schick estate to a creditors' claim of $15,500. Mrs. Schick also will fight for the custody of her two boys whom Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Schick wish to care for.

Mrs. Schick's mother, Mrs. O. D. Loomis, is on her way to San Diego from Ohio to aid her daughter in her fight for her freedom and property.

Decision on the bones found in a large cauldron across the canyon from the Clark home—whether human or animal—had not been given today by Dr. H. A. Thompson, city bacteriologist who is examining them.

Boundaries of New German State Given

BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—Messages from Duren today forecast that the boundaries of the Separatist state will include all German territory on the left bank of the Rhine and an area extending 33 miles on the right bank beginning at the Baden frontier.

Aix La Chapelle dispatches said the Rhineland republic continues to extend its sway with little bloodshed. Capture of Bonn is expected momentarily. The Separatists are declaring openly that they will carry out scheduled major movements today.

PROFESSOR TELLS PART IN SWINDLE

School Superintendent Admits Sale of Diplomas to Aid Big Fake Medical Ring.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—B. H. Jolley, superintendent of schools of St. Charles county, Missouri, today confessed that he sold high school credit certificates to the alleged nationwide medical diploma swindling ring for $5 each, prosecutors here announced. After obtaining high school credits, the ring issued fake medical diplomas, then sold diplomas allowing chauffeurs, bartenders and others untrained for the profession, to practice medicine.

Jolley, according to authorities, who obtained the alleged confession, admitted selling 57 fake high school diplomas last year. He said most of them were purchased by Dr. Robert Adcox, alleged agent for the "diploma mill."

SCORES PUBLIC OFFICIALS ON BOOZE STAND

(By United Press Leased Wire) SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23.—Referring to certain unnamed public officials as "pussycats" who have long dodged the liquor issue, Governor Friend W. Richardson today is on record with a declaration of purposes that calls on all public officials and all citizens to aid in enforcement of the law.

His statement follows: "The constitution is the foundation of our government and should have the support of every citizen. I urge every public official in California to lend his aid in enforcing the constitution. The violation of the eighteenth amendment in a few cities in the state has been open and notorious. Every effort should be exerted by peace officers and judicial officials of California to enforce the law."

"California should prove to the nation that it respects the constitution and every citizen should help wipe out these traitorous dealers in liquor. Places where liquor is illegally dispensed should be closed under abatement proceedings."

"I am making this statement in order to assist in sustaining the constitution, and because I believe every public official in the land from the president to the smallest official should go on record on this vital question. Those pussyfooting public officials who have so long dodged the liquor issue should go on record without equivocation or evasion."

RED PERIL SWEEPING PRUSSIA

Monarchist and Separatist Groups Extend Gains On Two Sides

VIOLENT FIGHTING MARKING REVOLTS

Fifteen Killed, 100 Wounded As Police Battle Hamburg Reds

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Peril besetting the German republic became threefold today.

To the disintegration wrought by efforts of Separatists along the Rhine and Bavarian monarchists, was added the threat of red revolt in the heart of Prussia.

While Dr. Matthes, at the head of the provisional Rhineland government, established by Sunday's bloodless coup, was striving to knit together as yet disjointed fragments of the Separatist movement, Communists arose in Hamburg on the Elbe and captured three of the city's police stations.

The Rhineland republic has yet to find coherent voice. There are at least three distinct groups involved in the break from the reich. Possibility that these might fight among themselves, while the impetus of the revolt died out as well as that the British in the Cologne area would have a repressive influence on the Separatists, heartened the government.

Separatists Gaining. The Separatist movement was spreading, with clashes more frequent.

The monarchist movement in Bavaria, where Prince Rupprecht of Wittelsbach was cheered as "King of Bavaria," appeared to be gaining more contingents of the federal army have deserted the reich and sworn allegiance to the Bavarian state.

In Saxony: General von Mueller, federal dictator, has moved between 50,000 and 60,000 federal troops into the state with little trouble and distributed them at strategic points. He has conferred with bankers in the state to try to arrange for distribution of potatoes to relieve the food shortage.

Check Plundering. In Berlin police have been successfully checking attempts to plunder food stores and one of the largest markets had to be closed to save it from being wrecked by crowds.

The central government took a further step in its drastic currency measures today when it re-established the system of fixing an arbitrary exchange rate at which all transactions in "valuta"—buying and selling of currency, must be made.

It also forbade food shops to close and established heavy penalties for persons caught plundering. Issue of a stable currency will be made at the earliest date possible, it was announced.

Raid Food Shops. Police were called to forty places in the Berlin area to stop outbursts of plundering. Thousands of persons gathered in crowds in the city and suburbs menacing food shops but police dispersed them without serious clashes.

One of the main markets in Berlin had to be closed to prevent crowds from attempting to storm it.

WIESBADEN FALLS TO SEPARATIST FORCES

MAYENCE, Oct. 23.—Two hundred Separatist troops have attacked Wiesbaden and disarmed the police, occupying all public buildings, it was reported here today. The Separatists repulsed a sharp attack of counter-manifestants. Several men were wounded.

Dr. Dorten, one of the chief Separatists, has departed for Coblenz, where he is expected to proclaim the Rhineland republic immediately.

Several villages in the Coblenz bridgehead area already have been occupied.

WOMEN AID COMMUNISTS IN FIGHT WITH POLICE

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Fifteen were killed and 100 wounded in Hamburg today in fighting between Communists and police, late dispatches from there said. Communists, helped by women, stormed the police stations and tried to get control of the city. They were successful in places

GREEK TROOPS IN UPRISING SURRENDER

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ATHENS, Oct. 23.—Two battalions of troops revolting against the Greek provisional government were surrounded in Macedonia and forced to surrender, a government communique said today.

Other revolters concentrated at Scutari, 50 miles from Athens, also were dispersed.

The main force of the insurrectionists was said to be in Corinth, under General Leonard Opolis. A train in eastern Macedonia, transferring troops to Salonika, was bombed by revolters' airplane and thirty soldiers were injured, the government announced.

Colonel Plastiras, leader of the revolutionary party (the government) today issued a statement declaring that General Metaxas is the instigator of the counter revolt which started yesterday.

"The revolt has been dispersed," Plastiras said.

General Gonatas today visited the king, informing him the government has the situation completely in hand.

A strict censorship of the press has been established, including prohibition of telephone conversations.

Premature Blast Is Fatal to 2 Workers

REDDING, Calif., Oct. 23.—Premature explosion of blasting powder in the Hornet mine near Keswick last night cost the lives of two signalmen, according to reports received here today.

bers and funds.

J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register said:

"The chamber of commerce is the one, big, vital thing in any community and every effort extended to aid this organization is worth while."

H. E. Wahlberg, representing the farm bureau, emphasized the importance of heavy co-operation between the people of the city and those living in the back country.

L. G. Swales, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said:

"The Chamber of Commerce is your organization, to be used individually."

Tells Tourist Influx.

Charles P. Bayer, manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce organization service bureau, in charge of the campaign in Santa Ana, said that a chamber of commerce is the most important organization in any community.

He said that during the first six months of 1923 more than 700,000 tourists visited Southern California and that in his opinion the number coming here during the last six months would exceed this number. Preparation must be made, he pointed out, to care for this army of tourists and prospective home-seekers.

"The preparation to care for the influx of tourists, according to Bayer, is a duty that every citizen owes the pioneers of this Southland who, through their vision, made the southern part of the state a mecca for every Easterner."

Lauds L. A. C. of C. Man.

He said that the members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce owed their wholehearted support to S. P. Morris, representative of the Los Angeles chamber's organization department, for the time and energy that he is putting into this campaign to make it a success.

This service, said Bayer, is being given without cost to the local organization.

Morris spoke, briefly, regarding the plans for the drive and in concluding his appeal for co-operation during the campaign said:

"Organized community effort pays, for communities do not happen, co-operation builds them."

Will G. Farrell, representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce speakers bureau, was introduced as the principal speaker. His ever-ready wit, flowing oratory and pleasing personality held the audience for more than an hour. He told the guests that the people of Santa Ana and the entire Southland have a great responsibility; the carrying out of the dreams and ideals of the pioneers of this wonderland. Only through the chambers of commerce of the various communities, he said, can this responsibility be fully discharged.

Cites L. A. Growth.

He told of the development of Los Angeles from a tiny Indian pueblo to the city it is today. He told how the much-needed water was brought hundreds of miles to the people, how industries were secured and of the output of these industrial plants might find a ready market. He outlined, briefly, the motive underlying the co-operation of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce with the Santa Ana and other outlying chambers of commerce. He said that the Los Angeles body realized that only in proportion to the growth of outside communities will Los Angeles grow.

"A community," said Farrell, "is more or less the efforts of individuals to live in a group. The only way to achieve this, successfully, is through a non-sectarian, non-political chamber of commerce."

The Tie That Binds

THE UNITED STATES is a nation of far reaching relationships. Urged onward by new opportunities in a land of boundless resources, families have separated more than in any other land. Few men live where their fathers or grandfathers lived. Domestic ties stretch between communities widely scattered.

Commerce and industry, too, have the same spread of interests.

Though the nation is a federation of states, their boundaries form no barriers to trade. In business and social life, as well as in government, the nation has become a great community.

Hence there is a natural demand for telephone service that has no narrower boundaries than those of the country itself. Such a nation-wide service can be given only through an organization having a uniform policy by means of which all its distant activities can be joined together.

The Bell System provides such a service to meet the needs of a united people.

$15,000 DEATH CRASH SUIT UNDER WAY

Second trial of a $15,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Celia Nolan of Santa Ana, an aftermath of the death of her husband, J. H. Nolan, following an automobile collision last year in this city, was under way today before a jury in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court here. Mrs. Nolan being arrayed against her nephew, Oliver H. Umberham, defendant in the case.

At the first trial, Mrs. Nolan was awarded $5,000 damages jointly against Umberham and J. D. Wineburner, drivers of the two cars. Mr. and Mrs. Nolan had been riding in the Umberham car at the time of the collision.

The judgment was set aside and a new trial granted by Judge William D. Dehy, then presiding over the court, on the ground that a prejudicial instruction had been given the jury.

Meanwhile, Wineburner succeeded in eliminating himself as a defendant in the case, leaving Mrs. Nolan and her nephew, Umberham, to settle the controversy.

Mrs. Nolan was represented by Attorneys James L. Allen and James L. Davis, with the firm of Head, Rytan and Scovel appearing for the defense.

The trial was held in the courtroom of Department 1.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 22.—With the announcement that all of the property owners on Fifth street had paid up, the city council last night instructed City Attorney Lewis Blodgett to take immediate steps to rush the matter of court procedure through as fast as possible.

CHILD HIT BY AUTO

FARMERSVILLE, Oct. 22.—Harold Daugherty, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Daugherty of Farmersville, was injured when he stepped in front of a passing automobile at his parents' home and was knocked down.

With the board of directors and executive committee of the Santa Ana Ebell club meeting this forenoon at the home of the president, Mrs. A. J. Crookshank, at Tustin, to ratify recent unofficial actions, preparations were going forward today for a joint meeting of the campaign teams and the ways and means committee tomorrow, at 7:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. O. M. Robbins, for discussion of plans to complete the fund for the new clubhouse.

According to a statement made by Mrs. Crookshank, effort will be made to secure pledges or cash to the amount of $2500, this sum being needed to complete the building fund to the point where the club may negotiate a loan of $20,000.

At the same time the president declared that it is the hope of the club to be in financial position to finish the auditorium before the work now under way is completed. It was estimated that it would require $10,000 to finish the auditorium. This amount is in addition to the $2500. It was intimated that it was possible a campaign would be inaugurated to raise this amount after the $2500 was subscribed.

The clubhouse is being constructed under plans drawn by Frederick H. Eley, architect.

EXPECT ROLL CALL TO LURE S. A. ELKS

With annual roll call, an appetizing dinner and a promising vaudeville performance as the lure, scores of Elks today were planning to answer "here" when Secretary W. W. Wasser sings out the names of members of Santa Ana lodge No. 794 here tonight.

"If we are to judge from advance information," Wasser said, "we will have with us tonight one of the largest crowds of lodgemen we have had in the local club for many months."

The annual roll call always brings out scores of members, and, in addition, we will have with us many of the members of 794 who have been away on vacation. Virtually all these have returned to their homes and will, I think, attend tonight's meeting."

Wasser said an exceptionally fine entertainment program has been arranged. W. K. Duffy, club chef, will have charge of the dinner to be served in the basement of the club.

Epochal Day In Ebell History Completed By Gay Luncheon

With yesterday marking the beginning of a new epoch in the annals of Santa Ana Ebell society, with the breaking of the ground for the new club-house, it was a highly appropriate day for a gathering of the club's chosen leaders over the twenty-nine years of its life.

Following the impressive ceremony attendant upon the first breaking of the ground, a ceremony in which the resident past presidents and the present president, Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, each took part, the little group of happy women were visioning the beautiful club home so soon to rise in response to their working toward that splendid goal, motivated to the Samuel W. Nau home at Tustin where they were luncheon guests of Mrs. Nau.

The lovely home was decked with flowers in their honor, clusters of dainty Cecil Brunner roses and maidenhair fern adorning the table where the guests were seated for the enjoyment of a delectable course luncheon. Mrs. Nau, the hostess and eighth Ebell president, was last year the indefatigable chairman of the ways and means committee and by her unceasing efforts, aided immeasurably in the present realization of that dearest dream of all Ebell women, a club home of their own.

Called together at her invitation were Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Mrs. J. W. Bishop, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. Edward W. Nealley, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, both a past president and the present one of the society, and an honored guest, Mrs. O. M. Robbins, tireless worker as chairman of the building committee.

Keen regret was expressed that the newest addition to the ranks of the Past Presidents' association, Mrs. John Clarkson, was unable to be present at either the luncheon or the ground-breaking ceremony, on account of a badly sprained ankle.

The luncheon was rendered an especially festive occasion because of the fact that this week will bring to Mrs. Crookshank, a birthday celebration, and in her honor, each guest had worded a happy appropriate greeting in verse. These were read aloud in turn, and were then presented to the honoree together with an artistic basket of carnations as a loving tribute from her past president friends.

Also in her honor was a beautiful birthday cake bearing sixteen glowing candles, one for each year of femininity's age of magic, sweet sixteen. Mrs. S. M. Davis, president of the club, acted as toast-mistress at a merry little interlude, and then the guests adjourned to the living-room where a business session offered many interesting topics for discussion and a delightful social hour was filled with happy plans for the Ebell society's future in its new home.

Cedar Pines Cabin Is The Chosen Scene of Mountain Outing

Returning from a delightful outing at Cedar Pines, a group of picnickers were today enthusiastic about the beauty of that new mountain cabin site where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon, recent purchasers of a tract there.

Mr. Dixon was already at the cottage to greet them, having gone up a week ago to build a garage in anticipation of spending a winter there. Mrs. Dixon with their daughter Mabel, was joined by the little group of friends, all driving up to spend the day and enjoy a delicious picnic dinner with appetites whetted by the altitude and the fresh mountain air.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McDonnell, the Misses Ruth Walker, Mildred, Louise and Harriet Reed, Messrs. Richard Miller, Virgil Reed and Lyle McCain together with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and Miss Mabel Dixon.

Mr. Dixon remained in camp and another party of diners was driven up to join him at the approaching week-end.

With the opening of Cedar Pines as a mountain resort, many Santa Anans have taken the opportunity to invest in cabin sites and the beautiful spot bids fair to become one of the city's favorite resorts. Dozens of lots have found their purchasers and many cabins are being built and contracted for early spring in anticipation of summer vacation days among the pines.

Vacation Motorists Home From North

Terminating a very delightful motor trip of two weeks' duration, Mrs. Susan Rutherford of Balboa and Miss Leta Thomas of this city returned home Sunday. The journey was made in Mrs. Rutherford's car.

The travelers had intended to go up the state highway as far as Eureka, but rain deterred them and they turned about after going through the redwoods section.

Visits were made to the Big Basin and Del Monte and at Berkeley a trip was made through the district devastated by fire in company with Mrs. Lillian Whitney, formerly a resident of this city. Mrs. Whitney is now house-mother at one of the sorority houses of the University of California.

Mrs. Rutherford remained here for the ceremony of breaking ground for the new Ebell club-house yesterday morning and returned to her beach home in the afternoon.

Enjoyable Week-end At Hemet Ranch

Returning from Hemet where they were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank True at their ranch home, Mrs. Ella Campau and Mrs. M. K. Flint bring glowing tales of a delightful outing and the extremely attractive new home of the Trues.

They found the latter established in a splendidly lying alfalfa ranch where, despite the comfortable home already there, they are building a new one of spacious rooms and modern and beautiful appointments. The stay of the Santa Anans was marked by drives over the Hemet valley, to San Jacinto and other nearby points. Mr. and Mrs. True have been established on the ranch now for over a month.

Happy Social Mingling Marks Dinner Party Of Business Women

Further strengthening the bonds formed at an earlier meeting in Anaheim, members of Santa Ana and Anaheim Business and Professional Women's clubs, last night chatted in friendly fashion over an appetizing dinner served at St. Ann's Inn.

In asking the group from the neighboring city to join in a social evening, the local club received an enthusiastic acceptance, and shortly after 7 o'clock last night, the resultant large group of diners was ushered to the attractive tables, there to seek gay little Halloween cards bearing their names.

Orange garlands trailed the length of each table, broken at intervals by the baskets of golden chrysanthemums. A pleasant informality marked the greeting extended by Miss Doris Robbins, president, upon behalf of her club, and responded to by Miss Blanche Mickle, acting for Miss Lucy Woods, Anaheim club president.

Three distinguished guests present were Miss Jane Humphreys, president of the Los Angeles club and membership chairman of the state federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs; Miss Alice Quill, also a state and a Los Angeles officer and Miss Orabel Chilton.

Both Miss Quill and Miss Chilton gave brief talks expressive of their interest in being present.

However it was Miss Humphreys who brought the chief message of the evening, and one addressed primarily to the Santa Ana organization. A message of broader fields of activity and larger growth, to be attained through affiliation with the state federation.

Miss Humphreys, a former Santa Anan, told of her twenty-seven years' experience in the business world and of the few means of the great growth from the small available for the business woman, shut off from club and social life open to the woman of the home.

"The need of an organization for ourselves, came home to me during the World War when I needed yarn to knit into socks and sweaters for the boys," declared the speaker.

"An individual could not get that yarn so I organized the first Business Women's club in Los Angeles—and it had eight women and six men members! That its need was great, was proven by the fact that at the end of the year we numbered our members by hundreds!"

Miss Humphreys concluded a witty and entertaining talk with a repeated plea for affiliation with the state body, as Anaheim has already done.

In addition to the talks of the evening there was a very pleasing program arranged by Mrs. Almee Crawford, Mrs. Jo Marshall and Miss Martha Briggs.

It opened with monologue numbers by Eleanor Young Elliott followed by a song group by Madame Manuela Budrow with Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano.

Madame Budrow's silvery voice enchanted her hearers in "La Habanera" from the opera "Carmen," a totally different second number of "Mother Machree" and finally most delightful of all, "Serenata," a delicately brilliant little Spanish song of her own composing.

Bringing the program to a close were the two charming little Walton sisters, Georgie Bell the violinist, and Marjory, the pianist. Talented and unaffected young girls, they won the hearts of their hearers with their first number, "Sarabande," which was followed by "Melody of Love" and a brilliant "Spanish Dance." Recalled by the diners the little maids gave "Trauerel" by request.

In greeting the guests of whom over forty were from the Anaheim club, Miss Robbins was assisted by Miss Verdelle Breckenridge, Miss Mabel McFadden and Mrs. Lula Martin as a hostess committee. On every side was expressed the hope that such pleasant joint affairs might be repeated at frequent intervals.

Among the events of the evening was the presentation of a new gavel, one of graceful design presented to the club through the courtesy of the Barr Lumber company and Walter S. Spicer, secretary of the company.

Gathered at the Inn for the pleasant event, were Miss Doris Robbins, president of the Santa Ana organization; Miss Blanche Mickle, acting president of the Anaheim club in place of Miss Lucy Woods; Miss Jane Humphreys, Miss Alice Quill and Miss Orabel Chilton, distinguished guests from Los Angeles, and the following members and guests of the two clubs:

With the rapidly approaching date for the convening at Costa Mesa of representatives of all Orange County Women's clubs, interest in the promised program is keen and wide-spread.

The occasion will be the twelfth semi-annual convention of the county federation and an unusual array of talent has been secured for the all-day program to be presented at the Friday Afternoon clubhouse, Costa Mesa.

With Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis, county chairman of music, to lead community singing with Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano, the musical features will be a highly important prelude to the different addresses, talks and greetings.

Mrs. E. E. Knight will occupy the chair in her presidential capacity and will reply to the greetings to be extended during the morning session (opening at 9:30 o'clock) by Mrs. E. L. Quinn, president of the hostess club.

The Rev. John C. The morning's principal address will be presented by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, one of the state's most prominent clubwomen and California director in the National Federation of Women's Clubs. She will be followed by Harry Welch whose theme will be "Our Harbor."

At 12:30 p. m. the session will adjourn for luncheon to be served by the hostess club, and followed by a brief social hour ere the afternoon session which will present Frederick P. Woelner, Ph. D., lecturer on education, in an interesting address and Ellis Rhodes, well-known vocalist and director of the Orange County Choral Union, in vocal numbers.

The election of a nominating committee and reports from resolution and credential committees will complete a full and interesting day.

$750,000 FIRE IN S. F. EATS ONE BLOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Thousands of residents in the Portrero district were driven to the China basin when fire of undetermined origin swept through a solid block of warehouses, causing damage estimated at $750,000. Seven warehouses in all, filled with oil, machinery, tents and awnings, steam shovels, and other valuable equipment, were laid waste by the flames, which for a time, menaced other nearby warehouses. Fire fighters, led by Chief Thomas R. Murphy, were successful in confining the fire to the block bounded by Alameda, Michigan, Merrimac and Illinois streets.

Many Plants Consumed

The business plants consumed were:

Warehouse of the Indian Refining company, filled with oil; damage estimated at $350,000.

Warehouse of the Austin-Western Road Machinery company, road machinery and equipment; damage estimated at $130,000.

Warehouse of Garfield & Co., steam shovels and concrete machinery; damage estimated at $50,000.

Warehouse of the W. A. Plummer Manufacturing company, tents at $50,000.

Warehouse of the Smith-Booth-Usher company, contractors' equipment; damage estimated at $40,000.

Warehouse of Frederick S. Roland, general contractor, contracting machinery; damage estimated at $50,000.

Warehouse of the Stuart S. Smith company, steam shovels and general machinery, damage estimated at $80,000.

Fire Sweeps Block

The fire began in the plant of the Indian Refining company at 200 Alameda street shortly after 11 o'clock and a few minutes later the warehouse was a cloud of flame. Sweeping through the oil-filled building the blaze swept north and one by one the other six warehouses were burned, in spite of a large force of firemen, who turned tons of water into the block-wide fire.

The fire which ate up the Indian Refining company warehouse was especially spectacular. Time after time barrels of oil, exploding from the intense heat, drove back firemen and spectators and filled the sky with gigantic clouds of thick black smoke and flame. So fierce was the blaze that Fire Chief Murphy sent in a call for the fireboat Dennis F. Sullivan.

Fireboat Big Aid

The fireboat rushed up Islais creek channel and soon had six streams of water playing on the flames. The combined force of fire fighters on shore and aboard the Sullivan was sufficient to confine the fire to the block which was ablaze. A box car filled with tents and awnings, standing on the tracks of the Santa Fe railroad, was burned before firemen could reach it.

"The fire was the worst we have had in the Portrero for many years," Chief Murphy said. "The blaze gained rapid headway because of the oil-soaked warehouse of the Indian Refining company."

Elephant Goes on Strike When His Keeper Quits

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Bobby, the oldest elephant in the Paris Zoological Gardens, has a grievance. He has gone on strike, refusing to eat or perform his task of bearing countless children on his back for promenades through the park.

Joseph Maitre, who for twenty-two years occupied the position of attendant to Bobby, announced recently he would be compelled to resign on account of his advanced age.

Bobby displayed strong disapproval when strangers attempted to lead him. He tore up park benches, smashed barracks and rooted up trees until shackled. Officials of the zoo, much worried, recalled Maitre. The old keeper promised to call every evening and put Bobby to bed.

Blast Kills Engineer On His Steam Shovel

WAPPINGERS FALLS, Oct. 23.—Coroner John A. Clark was summoned to Stoney Creek, Dutchess county, to investigate the death of Engineer Joseph Conlin, who was blown from his post on a steam shovel by a dynamite blast. His skull was found to be fractured in two places when he was picked up. He died soon after he reached Vassar Brothers' Hospital in Poughkeepsie. The engineer was thirty-nine, and lived in Wappingers Falls.

Hay Dried In England By Electric Fan Process

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Making hay while the sun shines is out of date. Hay is now being grown in many parts of England by methods over which the weather has no control. In these sections the grass is gathered as soon as cut and crammed into a rack in the stack yard. An electric fan does the rest.

When the rack is built a metal cylinder is inserted so that an air cavity is formed. A fan placed in the cavity dries out the grass and keeps it from rotting.

Left Family to Elope With Son of Preacher

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Davinia Clarke, alias Parsons, admitted to Squire John D. March here that she had deserted her husband and family in Newark, N. J., and had run away with William Parsons, son of a Newark clergyman, who is also said to be married.

Mrs. Clarke was leading soprano singer in a Newark church. Mrs. Clarke was held under $1000 bail for a trial on a charge of shooting Julius Wallace in the leg at her home in Stowe. She was unable to get bail.

Aviator Falls 1500 Feet to Tree; Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Falling 1500 feet in a spectacular tail spin, Lieutenant D. A. Musk, of the United States navy, not only had a miraculous escape from death, but escaped practically unhurt, suffering only a few scratches. The fall occurred south of the Crissy field. The miraculous escape of Lieutenant Musk, who was flying navy plane No. 23, of the 1st fighting squadron, is attributed to the fact that he struck a tree just before reaching the ground.

Thousands of spectators witnessed the spectacular fall. Many rushed over to the plane, all expecting to find Lieutenant Musk dead.

Crawls From Wreck

But before the vanguard of the crowd had reached the plane the naval officer extricated himself from the wreckage and walked unassisted to the Crissy Field road-way. He showed only slight cuts about the head.

No sooner had Musk's plane vanished from sight in the fall behind a clump of pine trees than another navy plane, piloted by Lieutenant L. A. Logan, swooped down and almost struck the block house near the sea wall, exactly opposite the grandstand.

Horror-stricken at sight of his fellow pilot falling, Lieutenant Logan, who had been engaged in a simulated aerial combat and dog fight with Lieutenant Musk as a part of the exhibition, had momentarily forgotten his own safety.

Effects Safe Landing

As his plane grazed the block house, however, he suddenly righted it so quickly that aviation officers among the spectators shuddered, but the plane withstood the strain, and Logan landed safely.

First to reach the site of the fallen ship, Major H. H. Arnold, commander of Rockwell Field, picked up Lieutenant Musk as he walked toward the roadway and placed him in a motorcycle sidcar.

At the Letterman General hospital, where Musk was taken, Major George C. Beach, attending physician, said that the pilot was suffering only from slight cuts and bruises about the head and face and nervous shock.

ESTRANGED PAIR FLING CHARGES IN DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Drunkness, cruelty and inviolable comparisons were among the charges flung at David Crowley, vice-president of the Crowley Launch and Tugboat company and wealthy shipper, by his wife, Jeanette Orr Crowley, while testifying in her divorce suit.

Besides a divorce, Mrs. Crowley is asking for $450 a month alimony and the custody of her two children, Davida, 4, and Bernice, 2. Cruelty and excessive drinking are charged by Crowley in a cross-complaint. The case is being tried before Superior Judge Dudley Kinsell in Oakland.

Drinking Charged

Testimony at the trial revealed two instances when Mrs. Crowley was alleged to have been intoxicated, once at a picnic at Paradise Cove and at another time in San Diego. In the first instance, it was said to have been necessary to carry Mrs. Crowley ashore, while at San Diego she was refused admission to a hotel because of her condition.

Married in October, 1918, at Santa Rosa, the Crowleys' troubles began in November, 1919, according to Mrs. Crowley. At that time, she said, Crowley struck her on the ear, knocking her unconscious, after he had demanded an explanation upon her return from a picture show. He had just attended the fight in Oakland, she said.

Climbed in Windows

"He would come home drunk on an average of twice a week," Mrs. Crowley testified concerning her husband. "and on many occasions climbed in the windows, explaining afterward that he had lost his keys. This always frightened me, because I thought he was a burglar."

Financially Crowley is worth between $500,000 and $1,000,000. Mrs. Crowley testified, on the basis of information obtained from a small memorandum book that fell from Crowley's coat one morning, she said, when he came home drunk. Several entries of blocks of stock in many Pacific Coast corporations were listed in the book under the heading, "List of David Crowley's Properties."

During the last four and a half years Crowley has spent close to $60,000 on his home and entertainment, he told Judge Kinsell when questioned about his financial status. He was unable to give any accounting of the money, produce any stubs of books to show how the money had been spent.

The Crowley Launch and Tugboat company gave me $1000 a month as my salary, and out of that I had to entertain so we would get more business."

At the present time his assets, as he listed them for the court, show a total of $26,000 in stocks and $200 in bank.

Crowley admitted that he is only a "dummy" director of the tugboat company and that he does not own any stock in it.

"THE FRENCH DOLL" OPENS AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

Designing clothes comes as naturally as walking to Mae Murray, famous film star and lithesome dancer.

Miss Murray designs all the stunning gowns she wears in all of her film productions. The various fashions which Miss Murray has exhibited to the envious gaze of millions of the fair sex are neither from the shops of Paris or Vienna, but are original creations of Miss Murray, who draws rough sketches of what she wants and hands them over to expert dressmakers to be turned into startling gowns of brilliant design and dazzling coloring.

One of the things Miss Murray insists upon is that her gowns harmonize, either as complimentary or contrasting colors, with the background of her scenes. Generally these colors harmonize with the mood of her scenes, as well. As Miss Murray makes all of her pictures under the direction of her husband, Robert Z. Leonard, this idea has been worked out through experimentation and by means of fine technique.

Offer Miss Murray has gathered for one of her pictures sufficient clothes to be worn by herself to garb a cast for an entire production.

"The French Doll," Miss Murray's biggest and latest film, from the Paris and New York celebrated stage success of the same name, now is showing at the New Princess theater.

"I went for a walk on the beach with two dogs, leaving Mr. Maas in the living room," said Mrs. Leslie. "As I reached the porch two men sprang from the shrubbery, throttled and threw me down. I struggled and screamed and Mr. Maas came rushing out. As he reached the porch a third man leaped from the bushes and fired twice. Mr. Maas collapsed and I almost fainted."

Liquor Plant Taken Covers Half Acre

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—Alleged illicit distilling operations at a plant covering a half-acre were discovered near Elkridge. The discovery was made by prohibition agents from the offices of Edmund Budnitz, Maryland prohibition director. The outfit was hidden in a woods on a farm on the Montgomery road. Five men were captured. W. P. Flinchman, who led the raiders, said they found two stills—one of 1800-gallon capacity and the other 50 gallons. The smaller still was the older and probably was used in earlier experiments.

Three Judges to Try Liquor Cases In S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Federal Judge Partridge whose court calendar has become clogged because of the accumulation of

"I want to say right here," continued the jurist, "that shortly three judges of this court will be trying Volstead act cases. Bootleggers who are going upon the theory they will not be tried for a long time are in for a rude awakening."

COUNCIL TO AIR BRISTOL PAVING

BIGAMY CLAIMS ENTER FOURTH PERJURY CASE

The hard-fought fourth trial of Victor Torterice, 24-year-old Pasadena charged with perjury, was expected to go to the jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court before noon today, testimony in the case having been completed shortly after court convened at 10 a. m.

Punctuated by frequent objections and enlivened by numerous strategic maneuvers on the part of opposing counsel, the present trial was far more vigorously contested than any of the three previous trials of Torterice, who was charged with misrepresenting the age of his cousin, Jennie Patt, 17, when securing a license to marry her in this city last June.

For the first time in any of the four trials, the prosecution was able yesterday to get evidence of bigamy on the part of Torterice before the jury.

Not once, but twice did the jury hear admissible testimony that when Torterice eloped with his youthful cousin to Santa Ana he already had a wife living in Chicago.

Evidence of this sort reached the jury at the first trial, but it came from "out of court" and caused the court to set aside the jury's verdict of guilty and grant a new trial. Jurors at the second and third trials heard no such information or testimony and both trials resulted in disagreements.

Yesterday Frank Patt, father of the girl, testified he once told his nephew, Torterice, who was living with the Patt family, to "get out of the house and quit paying attention to Jennie because he had a wife living in Chicago."

Spoken in broken English, the answer was unintelligible to most of those in the courtroom. But the court interpreter got it. So did Attorney Marmaduke, defense counsel. Marmaduke, declining to repeat the statement even in order to object to it, asked that the jury be excused while he made his motion and argued it. This was done.

The court ruled, however, that the testimony was admissible and the jury heard the statement repeated when it returned to the courtroom.

Again, by a piece of strategy, District Attorney A. P. Nelson and Chief Deputy C. N. Moxley introduced the "bigamy" evidence. They summoned the girl, herself, to the stand.

Attorney Marmaduke, invoked the law which says a wife may not testify against her husband, asked the necessary question of the witness, namely whether she was the wife of Torterice. There came the surprising answer:

"No, I'm not really his wife because when he married me he already had a wife in Chicago."

Admits Ceremony.

The prosecution claimed to have scored again when Marmaduke asked the girl if she had not gone through a marriage ceremony with Torterice and was told that she had. That, contended the prosecution, upset the defense contention that there was no actual proof that Torterice ever had married the girl.

Late yesterday court was adjourned until an Italian interpreter could be secured in order that Mrs. Virginia Patt, mother of the girl, could testify for the prosecution, in rebuttal. B. T. Molica acted as interpreter when the witness was called as court opened today. Mrs. Patt's testimony concluded the taking of evidence.

Members of the jury hearing the fourth trial were: C. W. Gardner, J. M. Miller, D. McKeeth, J. B. Stewart, John LeBar, C. R. Evans, Joseph G. Allen, H. J. Burnes, D. W. Gruwell, John C. Farnsworth, Henry Loptin and Nellie Cline.

Fire Laddies Stage Successful Dance

With an estimated crowd of 700 merry-makers, the annual dance of Santa Ana's brave fire laddies held last night at Central station, will go down in history as a brilliant success.

All fire-fighting apparatus was moved out of the building in anticipation of the affair, and the floor carefully waxed to offer a perfect dancing surface. To take care of the huge crowd which began to assemble at an early hour, Sycamore street between Second and Third was roped off and generously waxed so that dancing was possible there as well.

Chapman's full orchestra offered a splendid program of new music, iced punch flowed free, cordiality reigned and the whole affair was one flaming success, arousing unquenchable fires of enthusiasm and kindling in the minds of those attending, a desire for an early repetition.

No Zoning Provision To Bar Grocery At Eleventh, Bush

Absence of a zoning ordinance in Santa Ana was lamented today by property owners in the vicinity of the corner of Eleventh and Bush streets.

Twenty-five property owners in the district last night filed with the city council a protest against the proposed establishment of a grocery at the northwest corner of the two streets.

City Attorney Z. B. West Jr. told the council members that they could not deny the owner of the property the right to establish the business enterprise. The protest was filed.

PETITION DRAWS PROMISE TO PROBE WIDENING PLAN

With the owners of 67 per cent of the property fronting on Bristol street signing a petition presented to the city council last night asking that the street be paved from Fifth street north to the city limits, council members today were under agreement to visit the street Saturday and make investigations to determine whether steps should be taken to widen the thoroughfare to sixty feet before granting the petition.

The petitioners asked for six-inch concrete pavement, the improvement to be made under the 1911 and 1915 bond acts.

According to statements made to the council by E. F. Marks, the street is now sixty feet wide from Fifth to Sixth, forty feet from Sixth street to Washington avenue, and thirty feet from Washington to the city limits, with varying widths obtaining between Washington avenue and Seventeenth street.

Launch Storm Drains.

It was said that all signers to the petition were in favor of the wider street and that other owners had declined to sign the petition until the width is definitely determined.

Property owners on the street present at the council meeting were of the opinion that little difficulty would be experienced in obtaining strips necessary to make the width uniform.

Adoption of a resolution approving plans and specifications for paving Flower street, south from Edinger street to Edinger street, and instructions to the city clerk to advertise for bids for the laying of nine feet of paving through the property of the Havens Seed company, from Edinger street to a ditch of the Delhi drainage district, instituted the first definite step in the proposed installation of a drain to take off storm waters accumulating on Fairview avenue.

Costly Repaving to Proceed.

With investigations by City Engineer G. W. Knox and City Electrician W. O. Packard disclosing that the McNally Underground Construction company of Pasadena is a responsible firm, the company was awarded the contract for installation of the ornamental lighting systems on West Fourth street and East and West Fifth streets. The firm's bid was $54,797.

Investigations by City Attorney West disclosing that the assessed valuations of the East Fourth street lots of Frank Thompson and T. J. Compton are more than 50 per cent in excess of the cost of repaving in front of the lots, Steele Kinley was awarded the contract for the work. Under the contract it was estimated the work would cost Thompson $698.71 and Compton $868.87. The assessed valuation of the Compton lot is $2100 and on the Thompson lot it is $2360, it was declared.

Expressing the opinion, after investigation, that the Orange County Reporter is not sufficiently equipped to handle city advertising accurately and with the speed required in the publication of city legal advertising, the council awarded the advertising contract for the ensuing year to The Register Publishing company.

With George McPherson expressing his belief that O. H. Barr would sign and make the petition for opening Sycamore street north from Fifteenth street to Seventeenth street 100 per cent, action on the petition presented last week was deferred for one week.

W. E. Gates said that all property owners on Main street, and on Broadway, with the exception of Barr, whose property is on Main, had signed the petition. He stated

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The musical traits of sixty-five dogs Joseph Oller keeps in his East Side tenement caused him to be in court. Another woman complained the canine chorus was ruining the pianoforte technique of her daughter. The court ruled that Oller must get rid of sixty-four of the dogs or go to jail for disorderly conduct.

Urges Hospital Decline Gift of 'Tainted Money'

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Raffling of a motor car by churches and welfare organizations for the benefit of Lake Placid hospital, newly constructed, was followed by a demand by Dr. Melvil Dewey, president of Lake Placid club, that the district attorney seize the proceeds and that the hospital trustees refuse the gift.

"The proper course," Doctor Dewey stated in a letter to the district attorney, "is for the trustees to decline to receive the proceeds of an violation of law."

Raiders Seize 750 Gallons of Liquor

SONORA, Oct. 23.—One of the biggest bootlegging raids in this county was conducted at Sient by Sheriff Jack Dambacher, assisted by Deputies Joe Luddy, Henry Yaney, John Reitz and William Gibbons. John Radovitch and John Vichovich were arrested. Five hundred barrels of wine containing fifty gallons each and a vat containing 500 gallons of wine were found. Both men appeared before Justice C. N. George of this city pleaded guilty, and each was fined $500, which they paid, and the case dismissed.

Unable to remove the 500-gallon vat, the wine was dumped on the premises. The court will issue an order to destroy the balance.

Food Grinder Latest Fishing Tackle Mode

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 23.—Amateur fishermen and fishermal-dens line the commercial wharf these days, each with a meat grinder attached to the timber beside them. During the early part of the week one angler discovered that by grinding up bread, shell fish and other delicacies and dropping portions into the water he could catch fish at high speed, while others without this method look on, fishless. His luck led to a multiplication of meat grinders until now they are strung by the dozens along the wharf and fishing is better than ever before.

ORANGE COUNTY TAX RATE LOW IN COMPARING WITH OTHERS

But Three Levying Units to Pay Less Per $100 Than 'Nature's Wonderland'

PROPERTY VALUE 6TH

Local Realty Improvements Rank Sixth In State, New Report Shows

Orange county is fourth lowest of the fifty-eight counties of the state in the matter of county tax rate and sixth in the point of assessed valuation, it was revealed with receipt here today of a statement by the state controller covering values of properties, indebtedness and tax rate for each county.

The statement also discloses that Los Angeles county leads the way in low tax rate, assessed valuation and value of improvements on real estate. Incidentally, it was pointed out here, the assessed valuation of Los Angeles county is greater than the nine counties embracing the San Francisco bay district, including San Francisco. Los Angeles county represents more than one-third of the assessed valuation of the state.

Los Angeles Rate Lowest
Orange county's tax rate is $1.50 inside cities and $1.90 outside. The rate in Los Angeles county is $1.18 inside and $1.50 outside. Glenn county is second with $1.30 and $1.90, and Kern is third with $1.40 and $1.60.

San Francisco, with an assessed valuation of $916,695,517, is second to Los Angeles, with a total of $1,902,068,084. Alameda comes third with $342,388,005; Fresno is fourth with $199,142,944. Kern is fifth with $180,966,178. Orange takes sixth position, with $160,755,031. These figures include improvements and operative properties.

Land Acreage Small
Orange is seventh in the value of improvements on real estate, these values being given by the controller at $32,754,430. In these values, Los Angeles ranks first, San Francisco, second, Alameda third, Fresno fourth, Sacramento fifth, and Santa Clara sixth.

It was shown, however, that, with the exception of San Francisco, Orange county has less acreage than any of the counties named in the comparisons made.

In Orange county the number of acres assessed was 431,788; Los Angeles, 1,213,743; San Francisco, 29,760; Alameda, 449,808; Fresno, 2,718,000; Sacramento, 605,308, and Santa Clara, 753,257.

SEANCE STABBING IS BAFFLING PLOT FOR 'THIRTEENTH CHAIR'

"Probably in the long list of plays of mystery and suspense which have held central interest on the American stage during the past ten years, none has a more startling murder scene than 'The Thirteenth Chair.'"

Ernest Crozier Phillips, director of the Santa Ana Community Players' association, which will produce Bayard Veiller's famous thriller at the Temple theater here four nights beginning Monday, made this observation today.

"It does not take much imagination to realize the grip that this murder scene has on audiences," Phillips continued. "A group of persons seat themselves in a room, the doors and windows of which have been securely fastened from the inside. A seance is arranged. The room is dark. The medium, or clairvoyant, is supposed to have established communication with the spirit of a man who was mysteriously murdered a year or so before the action of the play begins."

Knife Crux of Mystery.
"Edward Wales is about to bring from the medium the name of the man's murderer. And then—a shriek from Wales: 'Oh, my back—Oh!'"

"There is a long, dead silence. The lights flash on. 'Wales has been stabbed in the back!'"

"The potentialities of the situation at once become apparent even to the most unimaginative spectator of the play. Because the doors and windows had been securely locked from the inside and are still locked when the lights are turned on again, it becomes at once apparent that Wales must have been murdered by someone of the persons in the room!"

TEST ON STATE FIREARMS LAW IS EXPECTED

Asserted "Discrimination" Against Aliens Taken to Be Open to Decision

"If you can do it, so can I."

The constitution of the United States says so.

The constitution of the state of California reiterates that bit of basic law to show that in this country all men are free and equal, at least theoretically.

That is why it is expected in some quarters that the first prosecution under the new state firearms law, scheduled tomorrow at 10 a. m. in Justice J. B. Cox's court, may develop into a test case. If not this first one, then some succeeding case where the defendant may show a belligerent streak and decide to spend some money in "standing on his rights," by taking an appeal of possible conviction.

Two Mexicans Charged
Anpeto Chavez and Francisco Rivera, Stanton Mexicans, charged with a felony for the alleged carrying of concealed weapons by aliens, and who will receive their preliminary hearing tomorrow, are not expected to carry the case any higher than the superior court, here, where their case may be decided, even though they do not attempt to make a defense there.

It is anticipated that, like many Mexican defendants, they will be without funds to employ counsel, thus making necessary the appointment of an attorney to defend them free of charge. In that case an appeal would be unlikely, even though it should be considered well founded, say court attaches.

Those who have expressed belief that the new state law which makes the carrying of a concealed weapon by an alien a felony offense, whereas such an act by an American citizen, not a convicted felon, is held as merely a misdemeanor, contend that the law is unconstitutional because it discriminates between classes, allowing one person a privilege which is denied another, which gets back to the proposition:

"If you can do it, so can I."

Others contend that neither class is allowed the privilege of carrying concealed weapons; the law merely makes the penalty greater in one case than in another, therefore does not discriminate "constitutionally" speaking.

The return to that view is that any sort of discrimination, either as to privilege or penalty, is unconstitutional. District Attorney A. P. Nelson, upon whom devolves the responsibility of prosecuting such cases, dismisses the question briefly.

"Makes no difference," he says. "The law is there and I am here to enforce it."

Clearing Brush From Cabin Site Costs $50 Fine On Forest Charge

Stanley Reed, local advertising man, today was adding an unexpected $50 to his expense account for clearing away the brush from his new cabin site, in the Trabuco district.

Reed was fined that sum in Justice J. B. Cox's court late yesterday, when he was arraigned on a charge of lighting a fire in a national forest reserve without a permit.

While clearing away brush from the cabin site he recently acquired, Reed was burning a pile of the brush Sunday when Forest Ranger H. I. Snider descended upon him.

SAYS HOSPITAL SANTA ANA'S REAL LACK

The Santa Ana Valley Hospital association today issued the following statement, prepared by a prominent local physician:

"I truly believe that 95 per cent of us who live in Santa Ana live here from choice and not from necessity. It is only natural for us to be honestly proud of our own home city and in order to keep our pride active it becomes necessary to foster such city improvements as are justly needed to make Santa Ana a first-class city and one which is not lacking in the first and all-important requisites of a live and wide-awake community."

"Any stranger coming to Santa Ana with an idea of making his home here will ask several pointed questions of vital importance and they are as follows:

"1—Have you an efficient water supply?
"2—Have you an efficient school system?
"3—How many churches have you and what denominations?
"4—Have you an up-to-date hospital?
"5—Have you a live Chamber of Commerce?"

"I believe that I may say, without contradiction, that we can reply with real pride to every question except the fourth. No, we have no up-to-date hospital. What is to be done to remedy this unfortunate condition of affairs? Only one thing—Let us all get together and get behind this hospital project and see that Santa Ana has a real hospital that is 100 per cent efficient."

By JACK FISHER

Good evening, Mr. and Mrs. Public. How are you this morning?

Today our boss sent us out to see if Alex P. Nelson, our district attorney, had any excuses to offer. So we strolled into his trap to write a few statements from him.

Nelson has been in the practice of law for the past twenty-five years. Nine years ago he came to Orange county. He went into the office of the district attorney in 1919. In 1921 he became the district attorney. Nelson came to California from Boston, Mass., where he had a large practice.

Tells Long Story
"How did you happen to leave Boston, the home of the festive bean?" we asked, enjoying a sudden rush of brains to the head and sensing a story.

"Beans, ah, yes beans," said Nelson thoughtfully. "It's a long story." "Proceed," says we, in our courtly manner.

"Well," began Nelson, "it was this way. Having lived so long in Boston, the home of the luscious baked bean, I used to think of beans a great deal. I often wondered how they grew. I longed to see the tender fruit passing from the period of infancy to the period of adolescence and from there to maturity they could be placed temptingly before one on a plate."

Gets Publicity
"My longing for knowledge regarding this delectable fruit could not be appeased. My desires regarding the bean became an obsession. My waking hours were filled with thoughts of myriads of beans and beanlets and at night I could not sleep. No longer could I speak of beans in a calm and dispassionate manner. When beans were mentioned I would become overcome with emotion and my speech would become incoherent."

"Finally, one day I found a pamphlet written by one D. W. McDannald, champion ink thrower of Orange county, California. It was a treatise on beans entitled 'Beans. If Any and It So Why.'"

"So I took the first train to Orange county and have been here ever since."

"And did you lose your interest in beans?" we asked.

"Yes, but I liked Santa Ana so well I resolved to make it my home," replied Nelson.

Nelson has made hosts of warm friends in Orange county and is deeply admired and respected by all who know him.

We enjoyed cartooning him very much, but wished for a motion picture camera, as he was harder

REVEALS WATER SUPPLY ISSUE IS OCCUPYING LOCAL CITY COUNCIL

Serious Study on Question of Future Source Due For Conclave Soon

HINT ANNOUNCEMENT

Tri-Counties' Endeavor Is Held Worthy of Advanced Expenditure, Time

Establishment of adequate pumping plants in the hills above Olive—

Construction of huge reservoirs—

Co-operation of a number of Orange county cities—

And immediate steps to ascertain just what can be done to ward further conservation in the San Bernardino range—

These and other suggestions were advanced here today by S. H. Finley, president of the city planning commission, Orange county supervisor and member of the tri-counties' reforestation committee, in commenting upon the proposal, made some time ago, that Santa Ana make a determined effort to assure itself of ample water to meet the requirements of an ever-increasing population.

Conference Planned.
At the same time Mayor John W. Tubbs intimated that, while no definite statements can be made at this time, plans are in the making for a conference of the officials of the respective Orange county municipalities, with a view to determining just what, if any, joint action can be taken in the matter of securing and maintaining water supplies ample to fill the needs of this city.

"Santa Ana," Finley explained, "has reached that point in her development where she must devote long and serious study to her water problems. The day has passed when we can afford to ignore this matter."

S. A. Streams Inadequate.
"Just how this is to be accomplished remains for the combined minds of our best citizens and engineers to decide. Although I have no definite knowledge in the matter, I am inclined to believe that the city authorities of Santa Ana are quietly working out plans for a joint meeting with officials of other cities. At this conference, I suppose, discussion will center about the feasibility of establishing adequate reservoirs and pumping plants in the hills, to be supplied from the Santa Ana river."

"To my mind, no survey is necessary, as far as the Santa Ana mountain streams are concerned. I hardly think sufficient water could be obtained there to justify the expense, even if it were obtainable legally."

Time Held Opportune.
"In the San Bernardino mountains, of course, there is ample water, and the work now being done in the way of spreading water by the three counties—Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside—will go far toward helping us solve our municipal water problems, if we co-operate intelligently in this great movement."

"To those who have made a careful study of the needs of Orange county cities, it is increasingly clear that Santa Ana, in common with other rapidly-growing cities of this thriving county, must see to it that her water supply is all that could be desired. We must not wait until it is too late. That would be fatal."

Council Works Quietly.
Discussing the plan for raising funds for a comprehensive report, to be prepared by competent engineers, Mayor John W. Tubbs said that while no announcement can be made at this time, it is true that members of the city council are working quietly in connection with a plan to bring the water question to a head within the immediate future.

"In about two weeks," Tubbs said, "we hope to be able to announce plans that will further this investigation and set in motion a plan that will get worth-while results."

Finley, who has always evinced a lively interest in the spreading of storm waters in the San Bernardino mountains above Barton Flats, said too much praise could

30 LOCAL MEN SECURE VAST OIL LEASE

A group of thirty Santa Ana and Huntington Beach men today was estimating probable returns from a 1500 acre oil lease near Farmington, New Mexico, following information here that Roy Clapp, representing the group, had secured the lease and was negotiating subleasing to an oil company on the basis of 22 per cent oil royalty.

Clapp went to Farmington two weeks ago to represent the syndicate in procuring a lease. According to statements made by one of the men interested, the lease is in proven territory, with a 700 barrel well within throwing distance of the syndicate lease.

According to news received yesterday from Clapp, he was scheduled to conclude today a sublease on the property.

A sample of oil sent here from a well in the district tested 62 gravity, it was said, the product selling at approximately $7.50 per barrel.

Interested parties are awaiting with keen interest further news from their representative at Farmington.

It was said Clapp beat the Standard Oil company to this lease by one day.

COUNCIL SETS NOVEMBER 20 FOR VOTING

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 23.—The voters of Newport Beach, who include the section known as Balboa, will go to the polls November 20 and decide whether ordinance No. 242, granting the Thomas W. Simmons company permission to enter the city with an oil pipeline and extending to the company the use of the municipal pier for the loading of oil tankers, shall go into effect.

The date for the initiative and referendum election was set by the city council last night. The initiative measure would provide that all ordinances providing for oil pipeline franchises be submitted to the vote of the people.

A majority of one vote will carry the election.

Two places were named for voting, the Newport Beach city hall and the fire station at Balboa.

At the city hall Henry P. Stark will act as inspector. J. H. Utz and Hugh McMillan will be judges. Clerks will be Mrs. M. S. Porter, Mrs. Emma B. Smith and Mrs. Arline Jasper.

At the Balboa fire hall H. J. Burns will act as inspector and the judges will be T. A. McGrew and Charles H. Ehrhorn. Clerks were named as H. B. Tudor, Mrs. C. G. Rodger and H. M. Aldrich.

The petition asking for the election was signed by over 200 names, whereas only about half that number were required.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Hope Ranger is abducted by a band of criminals. Her wealthy father, Loring Ranger, offers a reward of a hundred thousand dollars for the return of his daughter. Ranger is friendly with an adventurer called Juarez Charlie. Charlie starts on a quest to find Hope. He meets a girl named George Kelsey who is held prisoner in a hospital where they are held prisoners. Together they ride away in Bristow's car which is wrecked just outside Ranger's old abandoned home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"YOU hurt?" She could dimly see his white, frightened face. The motorcycle stood at the side of the road. "Want to get up? That's good." His hand was under her elbow, helping her to rise.

She stared blankly at the crumpled bulk of the overturned car, and then ran toward it, stifling a scream.

"Oh, where, where?" she cried, and stopped.

Kelsey lay almost at her feet, motionless, half under the tonneau.

The man caught him by the shoulders and dragged him out. Hope dropped down beside him, moaning faintly.

She lifted his head and it felt limp against her arm. The blood was running down over his temple, clotting his hair.

Juarez Charlie was running practiced hands over his body. "He's breathing," he said, but shook his head. "Looks to me like a fractured skull."

She forgot everything, their plight, the probability that this stranger was sent to capture him, and cried out, imploring him.

"Oh, go! Go for a doctor at once."

He jumped to the saddle, caught his spark almost immediately, and the jerky crackle of his machine was soon lost in the distance.

Hope made a pad of her own handkerchief, and taking Kelsey's hand from his pocket, she folded a bandage of it and bound it about his forehead. Then with his head on her lap, she waited, bending over him.

At last he stirred, there was a flutter of his lids, and he opened his eyes.

"What's happened?" he asked. "The car turned over, and you were unconscious."

"And you?"

"Oh, I'm all right. I was only shaken up a little."

His eyes veered to the ruin of the car. "Good heavens! They've got us sure. To think that it's all ended so."

"No!" vehemently. "Not if you can walk. The house is near. It's an old place that my father owns."

She explained. "I spent every summer here when I was a child. It's empty now; the old caretaker died about six months ago."

He got up and took a staggering step or two.

"Lean on me," she said quickly. "I'll have you. I'm afraid."

A hedge loomed ahead of them. With some difficulty she guided him to a gap in it, and they slipped through. The house was only a short distance away.

"Wait!" she ran toward it, and circled to the rear, trying the windows as she went. He followed more slowly.

"Here's a broken pane!" she called cautiously.

Joining her, he slipped his fingers through the jagged hole, unlocked the sash and pushed it up.

CHAPTER XIX

WITHOUT waiting for Kelsey's rather shaky assistance, Hope clambered through the window. Following more slowly, he closed and relocked it.

Swaying on his feet, Kelsey reached out for some support and clutched a table.

She was untying the bandage, and he felt her light, cool fingers on his forehead.

She moved swiftly away from him, and he heard the sound of running water across the room.

"I'm going to wet this handkerchief," she said, "here at the sink. This is the kitchen."

"Wait!" He got up and made his zig-zag way toward her. "Let me get my head under the faucet."

"Is the cut still bleeding?" she asked.

"No; the blood has clotted on it. It's only a scratch. Ah!" He inhaled deeply and stood up right, brushing the water from his face. "I'm all right now."

"But it's dangerous drawing water," he said. "They'll know we've been here."

"Let it run a little," she suggested. "It will look as if it had been left so a long time."

"That's so," he said. "And now we've got to plan our next move. You know this place, the house and grounds. They'll be here soon, and they're bound to track us to the house. We've got to get out. Is there any way we can throw them off?"

"We stay right here. They won't find us." There was an irrepressible, mischievous bubble in her low laughter. "Leave that to me. I know every inch of this place. Give me your matches."

"You mustn't strike a match here."

"Not here of course. But in the closet there. Quick—give them to me. Oh, don't be afraid. I shall close the door."

"Now come with me." She slipped her free hand in his, and led him through into the hall, and then up a flight of stairs.

Kelsey stopped. "What's your idea?" he asked. "To hide in the attic? That won't do. They'll make for that first thing."

"We're not going to the attic. Come on." She tugged at his sleeve. "Don't stand there and argue. I know what I'm doing."

He yielded the point, and followed her without further remonstrance into a long, low-ceilinged chamber which, he assumed to be directly above the dining-room.

"Now you can rest for a moment," she said, guiding him into a chair. "Sit down. And please, the matches again. Oh, anticipating his objection, there will be no light that can be seen from the outside."

His eyes accustomed to the darkness made out a great stone fireplace at one side of the room. She passed it, a light, gliding shadow among shadows, and stood before the wall beyond, in front of an old-fashioned cupboard about two feet above the floor. She stepped into it. There was a tiny spurt of light as she struck a match.

By it, he saw her kneeling figure close to the dark wood which lined the back of the closet. One finger outstretched, she was tapping the boards rapidly. Counting was she?

The match went out. He heard her jump down, and she came toward him in an airy rush.

"Let me tell you," she forced herself to sobber coherency. "This is an old, old house, built in the early days of the Colonies, when people had to be constantly on guard against the Indians and provide ways of escape. Can you make out that big, old-time chimney where the fireplace is? It runs up from the cellar and there is a fireplace just like this in the dining-room below, and another back of it in the kitchen which is in an ell or wing not quite so high as the main house."

"The chimney tapers gradually as it goes up, and so is narrower on this floor than on the one beneath. That leaves a space on either side of it up here, and the colonists utilized this as a hidden passage by which they could get to the rear of the house if the front was taken, or vice-versa. The entrance on this side is through that cupboard where you saw me. All you have to do is slide back two of the boards, and you are inside. Then by passing around the chimney, you can get out through a similar opening into the attic of the kitchen wing. Once there, you must crawl across the rafters, drop through a scuttle into a small room over the kitchen, and from this down a stairway to the woodshed outside. But it will not be necessary for us to do all that. We shall simply hide in the passage-way until the search is over."

She took up the crackers and jam from a chair, and going back to the cupboard, stowed them in the aperture.

"Now I'll get some pillows to sit on. We'll be luxurious."

She gathered them up from a couch, and stuffed them also into the passage.

A thought pricked the bubble of his exultation. "But surely this is known all over the neighborhood?"

"No," positively. "My father showed it to me when I was about twelve years old. I had never heard a whisper of it before; and I would have, if it had been gossiped about. The servants would have been full of it."

Through the dead quiet of the night they heard the sound of a motor—more than one. They went to the window. Along the rough road they had come they saw headlights approaching, beams of orange through the fog. There was a stop where their car had crashed.

"Hurry! We must hide now," she urged.

He stepped up into the cupboard, and crept into the passage behind. She closed the cupboard-door and slipped the concealing panel into place.

"Sit down on the pillows, and we shan't make a sound," she ordered.

Heavy thuds on a door below, reverberating through the house. Then the tramp of feet and the slamming of other doors. Men were on the stairs now. Passing the chamber door, they went on up another flight to the attic.

They came down at last to begin their search of this floor, and now they were in the room. The cupboard doors were jerked open; threats of light streaked through the cracks of the panel. Kelsey and Hope sat motionless, hardly daring to breathe, her hand clasped tight in his.

WOULD IMPROVE CAL. HIGHWAY, 'U. S. WORST'

Edwards, formerly of Orange and ex-member of the Orange county board of supervisors, now a member of the state highway commission, in a letter to The Register, today had outlined proposed improvement of the thoroughfare.

His letter, which places blame on San Bernardino county for the asserted condition of the road in question, sixty miles between Victorville and Ludlow, driving over which was held nothing less than a "nightmare" by Livesey, follows:

"In The Register of October 13, under the heading 'Worst Road in U. S. Claimed in California,' J. E. Livesey sr. reports that the worst stretch of road between Santa Ana and New York, or anywhere else, is the stretch between Victorville and Ludlow, in California, and wonders why the state does not repair this road."

No Exaggeration

"From the report of A. J. Wagner of Sacramento, maintenance engineer of the California highway commission, which is now on my desk, I am satisfied that this road is all that Mr. Livesey has claimed for it."

"Up to the present time the road has been maintained by San Bernardino county. The California highway commission has just taken charge of it and is now making plans to maintain it properly. We expect to establish a new division office at San Bernardino about November 1, and one of the important duties of this division will be the proper maintenance of this particular highway."

"I presume the former highway commission did not take care over the road because of lack of funds, but the present commission feels that this is a very important connection to Southern California and that, with the revenue from the gasoline tax, we will have sufficient funds to properly maintain this road."

"There is also an appropriation of $360,000 in the third bond issue for improvement of this highway from Barstow to Needles, and it is our intention to expend this amount for construction on the worst portions of it as soon as plans can be prepared and bids called for. With this end in view, we have ordered the survey and a party is now at work."

"We expect to provide for maintenance stations at Barstow, Ludlow, Amboy, and Goffs, each station to have charges of about fifty miles of road, with proper equipment and sufficient men to keep the road in proper condition."

"Mr. Wagner's report calls for an appropriation of $10,000, beside necessary equipment, for the balance of this year, and he is expecting to ask for approximately $500 per mile for 1924. As the distance is 200 miles, this will amount to nearly $100,000. This appropriation has not as yet been approved by Mr. Morton, state highway engineer but as he is fully impressed with the necessity for the proper care of this road, I do not anticipate any difficulty in securing the necessary funds."

the police appears simple enough. All that needs to be done is to search every person in the room and find the knife with which the murder obviously was committed.

But the problem becomes immediately more difficult because of the fact that the police are utterly unable to find the knife!

Audience Baffled.

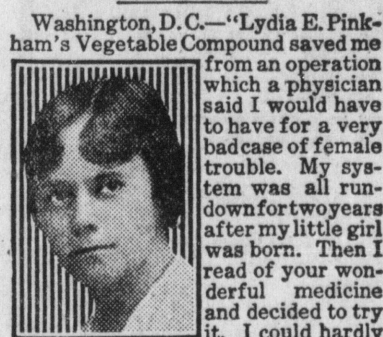

"With consummate skill the author puts words and actions in the mouths of his characters which lead suspicion to fall first on one and then on another. The audience several times during the evening make up its mind that it knows who will be proven in the end to have slain Wales. And yet, finally the murderer is found to be a person hitherto entirely unsuspected."

My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to anyone who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. Ida Haworth, 1529 Penna. Ave. S. E., Washington, D. C.

PROFESSOR NOT WIFE STEALER WOOD WIRES

ANAHEIM, Oct. 23.—Complete exoneration of all charges brought by T. S. Rush of Phoenix, Ariz., against Joe F. Barrows, instructor in botany at the Anaheim union high school, to the effect that Barrows had attempted to steal the affections of Mrs. Rush, were contained in a telegram received by J. A. Claves, principal of the local school, from Will C. Wood, state superintendent of education.

"Investigation has revealed that charges brought by Rush are without foundation and not of sufficient importance to jeopardize Barrows. No formal charges have been filed or substantiated."

The foregoing is the text of the telegram received by Claves and on which the board of trustees of the school will act at their next meeting to be held in November. In the meantime H. E. Carner, president of the board, is taking steps to retain an attorney who will bring civil action against those who made the charges in order to clear the name of the school and the teacher.

"This matter will not end here," said Mr. Claves. "It is the intention of the high school board to sift the matter to the bottom. This has been made necessary by the publication of a story that casts reflections on both the school and one of its teachers. In the event that there is no action on the part of the district attorney of their own for an investigation."

Claves announced yesterday that in all probability a special meeting of the board of trustees would be called the latter part of this week.

Hotel Fire Proves Avalon Direct From Pier At H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 23.—Avalon, the largest city on the island of Santa Catalina, which lies twenty-five miles off the coast of Huntington Beach, is directly opposite the end of the Huntington Beach pier. So it may be easily seen that if the citizens of this town take a notion to extend the present pier they may run it over to Avalon without putting any curves in it.

As a voucher for this statement is the word of Mr. Miles, caretaker of the pier here who explains in his own style "how come?" the pier to be in front of Avalon.

"Several years ago I remember," said Mr. Miles, "I was coming to work early in the morning. In fact it was just before daylight. I saw a huge fire in the heavens which I thought came from the San Pedro Lumber yards. Closer inspection however proved to me that it was not at San Pedro.

"Arriving in town I was about to cross Main street when I glanced up and beheld the fire directly off the end of the pier. The fire was that of the hotel building which burned down several years ago over there.

"Anyway we know where Avalon is."

BUENA PARK TO PLAY HOST TO CHURCH FOLK

BUENA PARK, Oct. 23.—Members of the First Congregational church here today were completing plans and arranging details for entertaining delegates and others to attend the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers, to be held here next Tuesday.

"Hundreds doubtless will be in our midst to hear the inspiring addresses we have arranged and to participate in the movement looking to community uplift," the Rev. Frank B. Dyer, moderator of the local church, declared.

"Not only will the church-going populace of Buena Park benefit by the general discussions of up-to-the-minute problems, but our city, itself, surely will be given an opportunity to show its capacity of good will."

Women of the church have arranged to serve dinner and supper on that day, the moderator added.

"There will be three sessions on the day of the meeting," the Rev. Mr. Dyer continued. "The morning assembly opens at 10 o'clock, with a discussion on 'The Presence of Christ in the Church,' as the principal topic. On this subject we have arranged for three ministers to discuss various phases of this important topic. They are 'The Body of Christ,' 'Christ in the Solution of Present-Day Problems,' and 'The Gospel According to the Christian Life.'"

Churches To Report "Each church will be expected to make a brief report shortly before noon."

"Following devotionals, in the afternoon, we will hear reports from the national council. A discussion of 'Our World-Wide Opportunity' then will follow. The business session also is scheduled in the afternoon."

"Following a discussion on 'The Presence of Christ in the Youth of Today' in the evening, an address on 'Christian America and a Christian World' by Judge Edwin F. Hahn of Los Angeles should prove one of the most popular features of the entire convocation."

WALTHER LEAGUE CONCLAVE ENDED

ORANGE, Oct. 23.—Delegates to the annual convention of the Southern California Walther League, which closed here following a two-day session, were home today with new and broader program of work before them for the coming year.

The advancement of education was discussed at the closing session, particularly the support of higher institutions of learning, and plans were laid for extensive work along this line during the coming year. Speakers present were the installation of a hospice in the university district at Los Angeles, declaring that it accommodates hundreds of young Lutherans who otherwise would be compelled to live in hotels and boarding-houses.

A motion was passed calling on the Southern California district to follow the lead of the Northern California district in supporting a missionary in China. Among the speakers at the parley were Edwin Meese, international vice-president; Harry Witke, junior representative from San Francisco; and Adolph Klake, Buffalo, representing the eastern district.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: W. C. Wetman, Los Angeles, president; Harry Wendland, Los Angeles, vice-president; Miss Bertha Ehlen, Orange, secretary; Louis Glendry, Los Angeles, treasurer.

Between sessions the delegates were taken in automobiles through the citrus belt on sightseeing tours. Virtually all the visitors were accommodated in private homes during their stay here.

LA HABRA PAIR IN VOWS AT WEDDING

LA HABRA, Oct. 23.—The Methodist church at La Habra was the scene of one of the most elaborate and pretty weddings of the season Friday at 8 p. m. when Miss Christina Beatrice Proud, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Proud of La Habra, became the bride of Phillip Hart Goodell of Fullerton. The Rev. Claude Smith of Santa Barbara officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was a charming picture in her gown of white satin and lace. Her long net veil was caught into a coronet by a wreath of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her bridal bouquet was a shower of brides roses and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. Edgar E. Leuhm, wore a frock of white lace. The bridesmaids, Miss Margarette Bryan of Brea, and Miss Ruth Mitchell of Whittier, were gowned in satin. One in lavender and the other in pink.

Preceding the bride was little Kathrine Leuhm, niece of the bride dressed in yellow georgette carrying a basket of butterfly and bridal roses in shower effect, surmounted by pink bows. Little Francis Leuhm was ring bearer. The bridegroom was attended by Harry James Taylor of Fullerton. The ushers were E. M. Proud and E. L. Leuhm.

Following the impressive double ring ceremony, the invited guests proceeded at once to the beautiful ranch home of the bride's parents to offer their congratulations to the happy young couple at an elaborate reception. The pair will honeymoon, returning next week to make their home with the bride's parents at La Habra.

The wedding came as the conclusion of a number of delightful social affairs given during the last few weeks in honor of Miss Proud and Mr. Goodell. Both young people are popular in La Habra and Fullerton, where she has been employed as teacher in the Sherwood school of music. Mr. Goodell who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Goodell of Jasmine, Calif., has been several years a resident of Fullerton, the past two years in the employ of the Nelson Music company.

Student Activities At College Started

FULLERTON, Oct. 23.—Student body activities in Fullerton junior colleges are getting under way early this year. Debate, and the publication of the Annual Torch, are being considered by the students. An election of officers for the coming year, dealing with these affairs, was held last Friday.

Johanna Wichers was elected Forensic manager to take the place of Marjorie Travers, resigned. Miss Wichers plans to arrange as many debates as possible with outside schools, such as Southern Branch, University of California, Pomona College, Redlands university, Occidental college and other junior colleges. Several students of promise in debating ability have shown a desire to get into the contests. The first league debate of the season is planned for November 22, when Fullerton will meet Santa Ana in a double debate on the subject, "Rural Situation."

The following students will have charge of the publication of the Annual Torch for 1923-24: Alfred Bonney, editor-in-chief; Sam Walker, business manager; Winfred Hesnault, sales manager; Kenneth Doty, literary editor; Jean McElheney, photograph editor.

The annual sophomore reception of freshman students, Fullerton junior college, will be held Friday evening of this week at the Placencia Round Table clubhouse, at 8 o'clock. Miss Hazel Scharr is chairman of the committee in charge. Gladys Conn is chairman of the program committee; Rulon McOmie is in charge of arrangements; Robert Cooke is in charge of finance.

A program of music, games and stunts will be carried out. The Men's Glee club and the Women's Glee club will sing. This is the first appearance of these organizations this year.

TEACHERS WILL HAVE MEETING IN ORANGE

ORANGE, Oct. 23.—Six hundred teachers, representing schools from all over Orange county, save Santa Ana and Fullerton, will be in attendance when the annual Orange County Teachers' Institute opens for a two-day session at the Orange high school auditorium Monday, October 29, it was estimated today.

Instructors, both elementary and high school, will be on hand from Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Tustin, Capistrano, Brea and more than a half dozen other county towns.

Two Schools Unaffected. Santa Ana and Fullerton, who have held their institute this year, are not to be represented at the local convocation, according to F. A. Henderson, Orange high school principal, who is making arrangement to handle the crowd.

The institute will open at nine o'clock next Monday morning with a general session featuring talks on the new phases of the California school law. The Orange high school orchestra, under the baton of Percy Richards, will open the afternoon session with a brief concert, followed by a program of addresses with Clyde Crawford, Los Angeles, and Dr. Dexter, president of Whittier college, as the speakers.

Sessions Arranged. The morning session Tuesday will be marked by round-table sessions relating to kindergarten, primary and high school work. As many as ten different sessions are to be held covering all phases of school work, concentrating on each department.

The closing session, Tuesday afternoon, will be opened with a pipe organ prelude by Percy Richards. Orange high school instructor, followed by addresses by Dr. R. D. Williams, Pomona college, and the Rev. Carl Patton, pastor of the First Congregational church, Los Angeles.

All students in the county will enjoy a two-day respite from the classroom as a happy result of the convocation.

PAPER IS TAKEN BY CAPISTRANO REALTOR

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Oct. 23.—W. E. Alexander, local realtor has taken over the management of The Missionite. It was announced here, with J. Winterbourne retiring. As Mr. Alexander is a live man and is deeply interested in the growth of the city and valley an interesting home paper is assured.

The orchard tract near that of Henry Stewart, west of Capistrano, has begun to bring in returns. Most of the growers have truck gardens between the rows of young orange trees. C. R. Cook is shipping tomatoes, green peas and string beans from his thirty acre tract.

Mrs. Charles Gromline gave a party for her daughter, Harriet, Saturday afternoon, in honor of the latter's eighth birthday. The little girls romped and played until refreshments were served. A birthday cake featured. Old-fashioned tarts made by Harriet's grandmother, Mrs. Rhuebaker, also were served. Those enjoying the afternoon with Harriet were June Whitney, Evelyn Smith, Mildred Congdon, Sara Ross, Mary McHenry and Charles Cromline.

Do you take orders from a Coffee Pot?

IT must be humiliating for thousands of people to confess that they lack the will-power to stop coffee.

They know from experience that it results in irritated nerves; keeps them awake nights; makes them nervous. Yet they don't seem to be able to say "no."

If you find that coffee harms you, change to the pure cereal beverage, Postum. You'll find it delicious and satisfying. And it is absolutely free from caffeine or any other harmful drug, so you can drink Postum at any meal, and as much as you want.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

DELHI FINDS DEMPSEY IS 'REAL GUY'

Champion Referees, Shakes Hands, Talks, Answers Volley of Questions

BY RINGSIDER.

Just like the regular fellow that he is, the one and only Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion and one of the greatest fighters that ever stepped inside a ring, last night mingled with the largest crowd that ever gained entrance to the Delhi arena.

There were at least 1500 persons in that little old pavilion that Boyd Ellis owns and that Tommy McFarland, formerly a contender for the lightweight crown, operates. More than 300 were turned away at the gate. Most of the 1500 never saw Dempsey before, might not even have liked him. But the whole gang is for him to-day.

The champion refereed four bouts, three more than he was billed to officiate. He made a little "speech," introduced Teddy Hayes and Jerry Luvadis, his past and present trainers, and good naturedly answered a volley of questions fired at him from all parts of the house. He shook hands with everybody that stuck out his hand and in a hundred other ways proved he's just a regular guy.

"Can Firpo hit?" somebody shouted at him.

"Can he?" the champion repeated. "I don't remember. I was too busy trying to hear the referee count."

"When are you going to fight him again?" some boxes wanted to know.

"Six," Dempsey said. "I don't want anyone of him."

"Don't let any foreigner lick you, Jack," cautioned another ringsider. "I won't let any of 'em lick me if I can help it," Dempsey replied. Dempsey and Hayes were accompanied by a couple of very good looking little ladies. The crowd wanted an introduction. Jack laughed and tried to satisfy them, but the ladies only blushed and refused to climb into the ring.

Eisman Wins by K. O.

They staged six bouts but the crowd watched the champion more than the boxers. Sam Eisman, the big heavyweight who resembles pictures of Luis Firpo, stopped Jack Thompson, a fat boy from Memphis, early in the first round. The fight was a stormy session while it lasted but Eisman hooked in his right at close range as they were fighting themselves out of a clinch and Dempsey counted Thompson out while he was vainly trying to regain his footing.

Toby Montoya was too strong for Patsy Flannigan, winning a technical knockout in two rounds. The Flannigan stalled through the first round much to the dissatisfaction of the house. Between rounds, Dempsey told Toby he'd better fight so Toby decided it might be wise to do that too. Dempsey stopped the fight with Flannigan, helpless, clinging to the ropes.

Pico Ramies won all four rounds and the judges' decision over Bob Herman in what many thought the best brawl of the evening.

Toby Montoya and Pete Gollinda were slugging like a couple of demons in the first round when Gollinda suffered a broken left arm. Dempsey called a physician and aided the boxer out of the ring.

Billy Craig easily mastered K. O. Montoya, the latter being the cut at the end of the last stanza. Jimmy Rivers defeated Young Ortega in the curtain raiser.

Sport Flashes

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 23.—With a fast start in the last three rounds, Lou Bogash, Bridgeport, middleweight, won a 12 round newspaper decision here last night from Harry Greb, middleweight champion.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Lee Fohl, former Cleveland and St. Louis Browns manager, will lead the Boston Red Sox next season, Robert Quinn, president of the club, announced. He succeeds Frank Chance who was released after his first season with the Boston club.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Few changes during the winter months are expected among the pilots of the major league baseball clubs. Many of them have been signed to new contracts, several in bomb-proof jobs and a few have contracts with more time to run.

Miller Huggins, Bill McKechnie, Wilbert Robinson and Arthur Fletcher were given new contracts before their athletes scattered at the close of the season. It was to be expected that they would be retained in their positions.

It was a fine tribute, from a man to a fine man, when Colonel Jake Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, announced that Huggins had been signed to a new contract, and added, "he can have the job as long as he wants it."

The esteem in which Huggins is held by his employer and the confidence that Ruppert has in his little manager was strikingly shown when Ruppert called him in his office, slapped a blank contract on the table and told him to write his own terms.

Huggins, in his characteristic way, would not ask for a raise and would sign only for one year. Ruppert gave him a substantial raise.

After many reports that his services were no longer desired because he "came too high," it was pleasing to all ball fans to learn that Uncle Wilbert Robinson, one of the finest characters in baseball, had been signed to a new three-year contract with the Brooklyn Robins.

Robby is one of the greatest managers in the game. His two pennants for Brooklyn with nothing, and it is within the bounds of reason to hazard a guess that he might win another one under the same conditions before his new contract expires.

Pittsburgh's grandstand managers might have been pleased if Bill McKechnie had been deposed as manager of the Pirates, but Barney Dreyfuss wisely decided to give Bill another chance. He did well with the Pirates this year, and if he did make the mistake that some of the critical Pittsburgh fans charged against him, he made them in good faith—if that is an alibi.

There is every reason to believe that the Pirates will be reorganized and perhaps strengthened before the season opens next spring. A deal has already been arranged with the Chicago Cubs by which Hollocher will change places with Maranville. The deal depends upon the contract of the Rabbit, who now wants to play in Brooklyn.

Art Fletcher did as much as any game human could accomplish with the Phils. At least he kept the fighting, and that is some job, considering what he had to make fight. Fletcher is a smart manager and he is building. He may not win a pennant, but neither will he remain forever in the cellar.

Frank Chance deserved another chance with the Boston Red Sox, in the opinion of most baseball fans. He did as well as could be expected under the circumstances, and he might have done better next season.

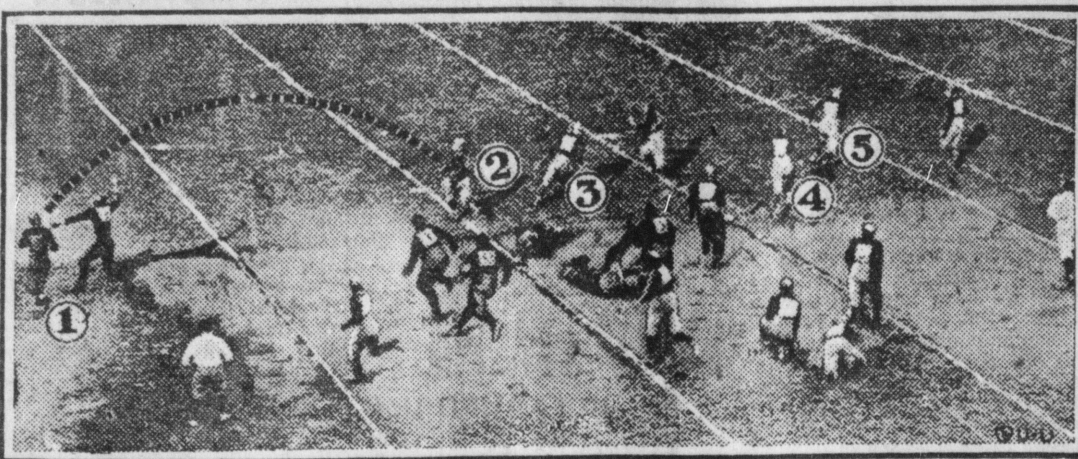

Clarke Griffith, no doubt, will be content to let Donie Bush handle the Washington Senators again next season, inasmuch as Donie squeezed the club into the first division. It was predicted last spring that Bush would succeed with the team if Griffith let him alone—and he did the expected.

John McGraw, Branch Rickey and Tris Speaker, as part owners of their clubs, are certain of their jobs as long as they want to remain. Certainly no change for the better could be made with the Giants and the Indians.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Panchito Villa, world's flyweight champion, spotted Jabez White, Albany, N. Y., nine rounds and then won every round of an eight round bout at the arena here last night.

Jimmy Burke, coach of the Red Sox, has been released.

THROW-IT-ANYWHERE PASS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—This shows how the throw-it-anywhere pass of the Pittsburgh football eleven is being used this year. The above action is a recorded play from an actual game, Lafayette being the opposing squad. No. 1 in the picture is Flanagan, Pittsburgh's triple-threat artist, who has just tossed to No. 2, Bohren, who caught the ball for a 30-yard advance. No. 3 is Gustafson, Pitt's fullback; No. 4 is Shuler, quarterback, and No. 5 is Jordan, end and captain. All of these players are eligible to receive the pass. If Bohren had been covered, Gustafson would have gone for the ball. And if Gustafson, in turn, had been crowded out of the play, Shuler or Jordan would have been the receiver. Pitt worked the pass nine times out of twelve attempts in this game, an exceptionally high average.

SAM BAKER TO FACE CARRESE AT BEACH

Coast Heavyweight Crown At Stake When Giants Mingle Friday

HUNTINGTON BEACH CARD.
Main Event—Sam Baker vs. Harry Carrese, heavyweights.
Semi-windup—Harry Lee vs. Ray Neal, 160 pounds.
Preliminaries—Young Moore vs. Young Burton, 138 pounds.
Kid Walker vs. Young Sam Langford, 128 pounds.
John Austin vs. Fat Rafael, 200 pounds.
Marty Kane vs. Clem Johnson, 122 pounds.
Ben Wiggins vs. Dallas Ayres, 145 pounds.

The heavyweight crown of the Pacific Coast, which now adorns the kinky-hair of Sam Baker, 41, gentle Los Angeles colored boy, will be at stake Friday night at Kid Mexico's Huntington Beach arena when Baker squares off with Harry Carrese, veteran Eastern 210 pounder. According to the best of dope Baker will have gobs of trouble in keeping that crown from toppling from his cranium.

Carrese isn't as young as he was but he packed enough of his old time punch last July 4 to stop Carl Morris at Omaha, Neb., in four rounds. There was a time when all the big fellows respected Carrese's right hand and Baker is certain to learn something about it before the oil city fry is over. Carrese was a sparring partner to Jack Dempsey for several of the champ's encounters.

Ray Neal, former Santa Ana, will make his first Orange county appearance in more than two years when he meets Harry Lee, the big Huntington Beach Hefeguard, in the semi-final bout. Neal holds draws with Belt Collima and Kid Mexico and fought Jack Johnson an exhibition bout at Tijuana when the big black boy was there several years ago.

After more or less uncertain beginning, Lee seems to have found himself and he really appears to be on the way to something worth while. Lee has lost a lot of his excess baggage and is much faster than before. He offered a splendid bout against Ted Francis at the last beach bill.

Young Burton, flashy Anaheim colored lad, is another performer who will be seen in action here for the first time in many months. Burton recently returned from San Francisco where among others he thrashed Young Dudley and Mike O'Leary. Young Moore, the promising Huntington Beach lad, will be Burton's foe.

Four good preliminaries will open the show.

Butler College's disastrous defeat at the hands of the University of Illinois furnished one of the big surprises of the early football season in the mid-West. Butler last year, with nine of the same men in the lineup as this year, had little difficulty in downing the Illini.

Earl Sande, who rode Zev to victory in the $100,000 match race against Papyrus, has been riding thoroughbreds since he was nine years old and has been a success from the start.

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin went through light signal drill to-day. Forward passing will be the main work this week in preparation for the Minnesota game.

GRID GOSSIP

STANFORD UNIVERSITY.—Coach Andy Kerr is worried about Stanford's chance to beat U. S. C. decisively next Saturday. Kerr says the Stanford showing against Occidental was "rotten."

BERKELEY.—Alumni of Notre Dame, the "wonder team" of eastern football this year, are trying to get a post season game arranged between the alma mater and the California Bears. Should Stanford beat the Bears this year, a game might be arranged between the Micks and the Cardinals.

SAN FRANCISCO.—U. S. C., with three first string men in cotton batting and smarting from the licking Washington gave them, spread gloom all over the Golden Gate as they passed Southward yesterday. Gus Henderson, gloomy as ever, fears the Stanford Cards will show his boys no mercy next Saturday.

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Barchet, Cullen, McKee and Flippin probably will be in the Navy back field in the Princeton game Saturday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Intensive work to get Harvard ready for the Dartmouth game has been started by the coaching staff. Kernan was not injured badly in the Holy Cross game and will be able to start at center.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Getting ready for Brown, Coach Tad Jones has made several changes in the Yale varsity team. Blair replaced Miller at tackle and Richeson was sent back to quarter. Stevens was moved up to O'Hearn's place in the back field.

URBANA, Ill.—Tackle subs will receive a trial today as Coach Zuppke picks a man to fill the vacancy made in the Illinois line by injuries to Chuck Brown Saturday.

The automobile is said greatly to have helped the attendance at football games in the Middle West, and especially among the farmer population, who often drive fifty miles to see one of the "Big Ten" or Missouri Valley Conference games.

QUAKERS TO PLAY HERE SATURDAY

Santa Ana Eleven Still In Running For Tri-County League Championship

LEAGUE STANDING.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Long Beach	1	0	100.
Pasadena	1	0	100.
San Diego	1	0	100.
Fullerton	1	1	.500
Santa Ana	0	1	.000
Whittier	0	2	.000

Coach Ed Reed's Whittier high school football aggregation will furnish Santa Ana its grid entertainment next Saturday afternoon. The Poets come here forthrightly and the locals' second fray of the 1923 Tri-County classic.

Despite the fact that they have suffered defeats in their first two encounters of the season, the Poets are credited with having the finest eleven since the days of "Stew" Beam. Th critics who have seen Reed's outfit in action predict it will give Ed Covington's machine a very interesting afternoon.

Must Defeat Whittier. Santa Ana simply must win the Whittier game to have a chance at the Tri-County league championship. The 6 to 0 defeat at the hands of the crack Long Beach squad did not eliminate Poly from the title chase. Any number of things might happen that would put the locals on top but if the Poets humble Santa Ana it positively is all off.

Covington and his assistant, Bill Cole, this afternoon started priming their charges for the Saturday skirmish. During the entire week the crack Long Beach squad uncoiled a brilliant forward passing offensive against Long Beach and it is quite probable that the Santa Ana mentors will continue to develop this branch of the game.

Team In Good Shape. Most of the Santa Ana team came through the Long Beach battle unscathed. During the entire week the locals took time out only twice because of injuries and neither time was the trouble at all serious.

There may be a few changes in the lineup that opens against Whittier but for the most part Covington and Cole were satisfied. Their little team was greatly outweighted but its game fight against tremendous odds was a thing that won unstinted praise from every person crowded around the Poly enclosure.

FIRPO NEEDED SHOT OF OXYGEN, CLAIM

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—If Luis Angel Firpo had been given a shot of oxygen just before that fatal second round of his fight with Jack Dempsey in New York, the South American probably would have won the heavyweight championship, Dr. F. H. McMeacham, Avon Lake, Ohio, told the United Press to-day.

Dr. McMeacham is attending the meeting of the National Anaesthesia Research Society here, and is regarded as one of the leading anaesthetists of the country.

Oxygen is a powerful stimulant and if properly administered, athletes could outdo themselves and send present world records toppling, Dr. McMeacham said.

"Take runners, for instance," he said. "If runners were given oxygen for a few moments before they enter a race, they could lower existing speed records by a considerable margin. The oxygen would give the runner his second wind and you would never see him dropping at the tape. He would finish with a great burst of speed and be as fresh as when he started."

Evidence of the popularity of football in "Big Ten" circles this year is furnished by the report that the Michigan stadium seating capacity of 42,000 was oversubscribed to the extent of some $25,000 that had to be returned to applicants for tickets to the Michigan-Ohio State game.

'HOT DOGS' FOR MILLIONAIRES MUST GO

ATHERTON, Oct. 23.—"Hot dog" stands and campers must go. Such is the ultimatum of Dr. E. W. Westphal, widely known San Francisco physician, who has just been appointed police chief of Atherton, latest incorporated millionaire colony of the peninsula.

Police Chief Westphal, who maintains one of the most elaborate country estates on the peninsula, is taking his duties seriously. To prove it he will pull back his coat and display his official badge at any time.

Chief Needs Help
But Police Chief Westphal, at present is the entire police department himself. Seventy-five per cent of the population of Atherton which numbers about 600, is composed of golfers, polo players and the like, and Police Chief Westphal feels that he needs help, heretofore he has appealed to the Atherton board of trustees for authority to appoint a full-fledged patrolman, appoint a uniformed and to carry a No. 1." With this force Police Chief Westphal believes he will be able to maintain order and decorum among his fellow citizens.

Firm in Decision
The trustees to whom Police Chief Westphal has appealed for a one-man force include Edward Ayre, Atherton's first mayor; Matt A. Harris, Eli Weil, Cutler Bonestell and F. H. Crosby.

But, above all, Atherton's new police chief is pledged to eradicate the "hot dog" stands and campers who clutter up Atherton's fair scenery. Chief Westphal is firm in his decision that "hot dogs" and campers are not consistent with the latest model in millionaire peninsula colonies.

While the population of Atherton is highly upholstered with wealth, the city of Atherton, just at present, has no money in the city treasury.

Great Possibilities
But, as Chief Westphal points out, the town has great financial possibilities, aside from the fines which the chief expects to pick up from littering offenders.

In the presence of a town hall the trustees meet every Wednesday night in the spacious parlor in Clarence Walter's mansion. The parlor perhaps is the most elaborate town hall this side of the north pole.

In the meantime "hot dog" stands and campers must keep clear of Atherton.

Spanish Hip Line Is Latest Vogue in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 23.—"The Spanish Hip Line" is the latest vogue in the French capital, and Senorita Raquel Meller, Spanish dancer, who just at present is enjoying a great vogue, is its creator.

The "Spanish Hip Line" is the name of the garment, which is sharply cozy around the hips, flaring pronouncedly until it reaches a point just below the knee. This costume, first exhibited by Senorita Raquel, is in such favor that fashionable Paris simply was forced to follow the fashion.

Senorita Raquel, originator of the latest sensation in Parisian costumery, has had a sudden rise to fame in a capital which must have its novelties.

Only a few years ago she was a street singer in Barcelona, glad to receive a few pesetas a night—about 50 cents.

Then one day she drew the attention of King Alfonso, who became interested in her, and when shortly after that she triumphantly entered Paris it was with the adored glamor of having a King's approval.

Hotel Men Out On Bail Of $24,000 After Raid

EUREKA, Oct. 22.—When J. C. Perrone, A. Volpi and Louis Pera, proprietors of the Monte Carlo Hotel were released on $4000 bail each they had a total of $24,000 in bail and bonds posted to ensure the liberty of a multiplicity of charges growing out of raids and other activities directed against their hotel by the dry squad.

The latest charge is that of maintaining a common nuisance, a high misdemeanor. Other charges against the men have accumulated through raids by the federal officers from San Francisco, raids by the county squad, contempt proceedings for violation of a superior court injunction, the discovery of stolen property in the building and subsequently the unearthing of a cache of liquor worth more than $100,000.

New Officer's Method Was Entirely-Friendly

NORWALK, O., Oct. 23.—A local deputy officer decided to do some traffic work. A pretty girl drove up to the center of the street in a sedan. She put out a well-gloved hand to indicate she was about to turn to the right. The officer grasped her hand cordially.

"I don't know where I ever met you, but I sure am glad to shake hands," the officer said.

The girl did not see the joke.

ROSEVILLE, Oct. 22.—The secret marriage of Miss Gertrude A. Hawkins of this place and Wilson B. Lavine, local railroad employee, was discovered recently by the bride's mother while doing her autumn housecleaning. Going through bureaus, she came across the marriage license. Her son-in-law admitted the marriage, and it is stated that the bride will be in for a real surprise when she returns from Los Angeles, where she is visiting, unless her hubby fails to keep the discovery a secret from her.

STATE CIVIL SERVICE WAGE STAND UPHOLD

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23.—David J. Reese, president of the state civil service commission, won what was held to be a decisive victory over Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles, in an opinion rendered by Attorney General Webb, upholding the right of the civil service commission to regulate salaries of civil service employees. This is a decision declared to be of interest to all state departments.

The civil service commission had assumed salary control under its right to classify positions. Because of an ambiguity in the law, an amendment was drafted early this year, at the suggestion of the attorney general, it was understood. This amendment passed the legislature and was signed by the governor.

The asserted wholesale salary increases which Marsh attempted to make in his department were denied by Reese, who granted only the small proportion which conformed to the civil service classification rules and salary schedule. Marsh then attacked the right of the civil service commission to regulate salaries within grade, and requested an opinion from the attorney general. Commissioner Reese's stand is now upheld by the attorney general's decision.

San Jose Chinese Quit Lottery For Bootleg

SAN JOSE, Oct. 23.—Possibility that local Chinese are abandoning the lottery to engage in bootlegging was suggested in the arrest of Lee Ming on a charge of violating the Wright act in manufacturing alcoholic liquor, the first Chinese to be arrested here on such a charge. Persistent activity of local police against lottery raids and arrests in the last two and a half months, has led many to desert the business, police state.

Ming was arrested during a raid on the local Chinese quarter and a liquor still, condenser and a considerable quantity of gin was found in his establishment.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce is the one big, vital all-inclusive democratic public service organization of the city. With no age limit, no sex discrimination, no race preference or prejudice, no political partiality, no factional alignment, no religious requirement—except the religion of good citizenship,—no creed credentials, the Chamber of Commerce sounds the universal call to service.

Every adult citizen of Santa Ana should be a member of the Chamber of Commerce; and not only that but every member who is financially able should be a contributor to its Service Fund in some measure in excess of his membership dues.

This is urged, not merely because the Chamber of Commerce thus equipped and supported would be invincible as a community builder, but because standards and ideals of citizenship would thereby be highly exalted and community and individual life greatly enriched.

For his own sake, for his own moral and material interest, no man can afford to not be a member of the Chamber of Commerce. If his membership did nothing more for him in any way than to awaken and develop his community conscience, to make him feel that he is a part of the active, progressive community life, to relieve him of that isolated and "out-of-it-all" feeling that must be a scourge to any sensitive soul—if his membership did nothing more for him than this, it would richly repay him for his time and money.

By joining and supporting the Chamber of Commerce we make a three-fold offering to the god of community service. We pay a debt we owe to the pioneers who laid broad and deep the foundation upon which we are enabled to build for ourselves such a splendid superstructure, we do our part in the work of our own generation, and we lay up treasure for those who will come after us—for our children and our children's children.

The Chamber of Commerce is not an organization for the service of any group or any groups of citizens. It is organized to serve every resident and every interest of the community, and not only the residents and interests of today but the residents and the interests that are to become established in this community hereafter. For that reason, its membership, to properly represent what the Chamber of Commerce stands for, to enable it to function adequately and efficiently, should come from here, there and everywhere in the city. The Chamber of Commerce will benefit everybody in the community, and it is the duty of everyone in the city to extend to the Chamber of Commerce hearty support.

The Chamber of Commerce represents the optimism and the ambition of Santa Ana. It stands for the bright side of community life, and for its development into bigger and better things, both moral and material. More than any other institution in the city, the Chamber of Commerce stands for unity of thought and action. It is the one big organization of the city that represents everybody in it and every foot of land within its limits and surrounding its city limits.

There are many other things that might be said today concerning the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of bringing the residents of this city to an appreciative realization of what the Chamber of Commerce means and can mean to this city. Those things were said last night at the meeting for the opening of the membership drive. They are being repeated today by the men who are working on the drive. The one big thought, however, that we should keep in mind all this week is, that whatever the Chamber of Commerce means today is the result of efforts that were made in the past; that whatever the Chamber of Commerce shall mean hereafter depends on the efforts that are put forth this week.

Santa Ana stands at the door of a new era. Shall we enter? What kind of a city is Santa Ana to be five years hence? Ten years? Twenty years? Are we to drift along like a log on the surface of the sea, or are we to move forward like a majestic ship under steam and rudder? These are questions that we present to readers of The Register today. These are the questions that are involved in this campaign.

THE VALUABLE PLODDER

In a 200-mile race, an Arabian horse is outdistanced by George Cummings, English professional walker. Cummings is 50 year old. The horse easily left him far in the rear—at the start. But when it came to long distance—endurance—the man was victorious.

In life the ability to plod along doggedly, without becoming discouraged at temporary setbacks, is worth more than a natural brilliance that tires easily. Exceptional ability rarely is capable of sustained effort. That's why near-genius so often is a flash in the pan.

AGAINST UNSTABLE PROMOTION

It is not at all likely that those who are proven guilty of participation in defrauding buyers of oil units will get any sympathy out of the residents of Orange county. The fact that most of us will take delight in having asserted blue sky promoters brought to book is not due so much to the fact that no small number of residents of the county are numbered among the victims as it is that the people of this county as a whole are entirely out of sympathy with get-rich-quick frauds.

There will always be in any community a proportion of people who will buy unstable mining and oil and other stock. Among them are those who take a chance with their eyes open. Most of them, however, are those who hear the rosy story told by the smooth-talking salesman, and, expecting rich returns, invest their money.

In the matter of oil frauds, however, a very large proportion of those who in the past three or four years have been gloriously "stung" in oil stock or oil land unit schemes in this county are not residents of this county. Needless to say, they are somewhat embittered against the whole county. Through the operations of unsound companies we have received some very undesirable advertising for which we as a county were not responsible.

This county and its public officials are not in sympathy with that sort of investment. Efforts were made to prevent the recording of maps of some of the oil land unit schemes that looked unsound. While it was possible to prevent the recording of maps, it was not possible to prevent the recording of lots by metes and bounds. In fact, one of the unit promoters, when his map was refused the right of record, did sell his lots by metes and bounds, and caused the county officers a tremendous amount of work in following his descriptions.

It is to be hoped that the United States officials who are investigating the oil land unit cases will land the guilty ones. And this paragraph is written, as is the entire editorial, without any reference to any particular prosecutions that may have been instituted by state or federal authorities. The point is this: the people of this county are not in sympathy with unstable land or oil promotion of any sort.

The German Situation

San Francisco Chronicle.

Remembering that the German situation in respect to reparations and internal order changes from week to week, and almost from day to day, and that no reliable forecast of any phase of the trouble can be made, it may be said that the situation as disclosed by latest dispatches is about as follows:

The German government, having officially abandoned passive resistance, has asked the French and Belgian governments whether they were ready to begin negotiations for the payment of the German debt to the allies and the resumption of full work in the Ruhr valley.

It was indicated that the reply would be that in respect to the reparation debt only the reparation commission was competent to deal with the German government. In respect to resumption of work in the Ruhr, as Germany had been claiming that passive resistance in the valley was local and spontaneous, the French and Belgian governments would continue to deal with local industries.

Common sense would indicate that the quick and simple way is for the German and French governments to deal direct, since everybody knows that the reparation commission is not independent, but acts under orders. The attitude of the French is to make the surrender as humiliating to Germany as possible.

In respect to the internal situation the socialistic German government made the formal day's work in industry eight hours and perhaps less in some occupations. The industrial chiefs declare that the German people can never pay their reparation bill and sustain the population without working more than eight hours a day, and probably more hours than foreign competitors work. They therefore demand substantially pre-war working conditions. This is now in active controversy at Berlin.

Berlin's withdrawal of doles to the passive resisters quickly resulted in a very serious situation in the Ruhr, where starving people started riots. The French will have to deal with the situation, for both the Berlin government and the Ruhr municipalities are at the end of their ropes.

Woodman, Spare That Tree

Redlands Facts.

That will get to be a local cry of distress, unless the local practice of removing some of our choicest street trees is abandoned. Two fine pepper trees, requiring many years to grow, were recently taken down from Collier avenue, corner of Orange, and a bare, ugly wall of the opera house now greets the one who walks or drives in that direction. The reason is said to be that the trees hid the Casa Loma hotel sign. The hiding could not have been very serious, and cutting the trees certainly added an ugly spot to the city. It is understood that other fine trees are the subjects of attack by local interests which consider nothing but the commercial side of the immediate question. As a matter of fact, here in Redlands, one of the greatest commercial assets we have is the beauty of the community, which consists largely of our trees.

One of the movements inaugurated recently was to remove the trees from the center of Brookside avenue. The editor of The Facts drove into town recently with some strangers who remarked upon the beauty of Brookside avenue, because of those very trees which some would remove. The first impression made upon those visitors was a good one, because of the trees.

Our City Trustees should certainly move slowly in permitting the destruction of trees—so easy to chop down, so long to grow again.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE NEW PARTNERSHIP.
There has been a marked change in the attitude of patient to doctor, and doctor to patient in the last few years.

That feeling of awe on the part of the patient toward the doctor is disappearing. While it was well to respect the doctor and his knowledge, it often led the patient to try and doctor himself, as, if the ailment were slight, he felt that the doctor would dismiss him with perhaps a laugh or a slight rebuke for bothering with such a trifle. (This of course does not apply to the occasional doctor who magnifies the seriousness of simple ailments so as to make people more careful.)

Also from the doctor's standpoint, there is a more direct contact with the patient. Where formerly a doctor hesitated to explain the cause of an ailment to a patient, because he felt that the latter might think he was trying to "show off" his knowledge, he now goes into the simple explanation of the structure of the particular part, and what is likely interfering with its proper use or condition.

What's the result?
Why he immediately has the co-operation of the patient, who with a common sense idea of what is wrong, uses common sense measures, with the aid of the physician, to get himself well again.

You see the majority of people have courage enough to face things, to actually fight things, if they know exactly what is wrong, and the proper way to meet it.

The thing that delays recovery and takes the fight out of people "uncertainty." Thus all their time is spent in wondering just what can be the matter, whether or not they are doing the proper thing, and what will be the outcome.

With the new arrangement they tell their doctor everything; he gets every chance humanly possible to diagnose their ailment, and by explaining the nature of the trouble and the necessity for certain measures, two interested parties are working toward the cure instead of one. Often the patient was undoing the treatment by fear and lack of knowledge.

It's all just good hard sense, isn't it?
(Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

Nobody Home

A Banker's Business

Fresno Republican

Sometimes there is considerable rancor displayed when a bank is "hard boiled".

Let us for the moment forget any mercy for the banker. Let the banker scramble among the chances of life, just the same as anyone else. To whatever extent he is skilled, or fortunate or better off than any of his neighbors, let us expect more of him. Let us tax his income, and come down as heavy as we see fit on his property, and hedge him with regulations to see that he does not profiteer. All that is fair enough, perhaps, if equally applied to all others who are skilled, or fortunate or better off than their neighbors.

But let us discriminate between the banker as a skilled or fortunate or even crafty individual, and the bank.

For the bank does not belong to the banker. It does not even belong to the stockholders of the bank, except in a very limited extent.

The bank belongs to the depositors. Its fate is the fate, proportionate to their deposits, of many thousands of persons, who have put their money into the bank.

Not only is the good faith of the officers and the directors and the stockholders involved in seeing that the depositors are protected, but the good faith of the state, which incorporates the bank, or the government, which charters it, and of the various departments which examine it from time to time.

A man can be "easy" with his own goods, usually.

At that, the "easy" man is often unfair to his family, or to others that are dependent upon him, and unfair to his own old age. But suppose that a man has a right to be easy with his own. The banker has no right to be easy with the assets of the bank.

Often the banker must employ daring judgment, to be helpful to the community on which his bank depends. But he has no right whatever to be easy, toward anyone, with the assets of the bank. For these assets do not belong to him. They are in his possession only in trust. He must make bank bargains just as skillfully as does the merchant. And when those bank bargains have been perfected, they must be enforced.

So let us remember that the bank management is not dealing with his own. He is dealing with the property of each of the depositors, given into his keeping.

He must not fail in that trust, to satisfy any other consideration. He must be fair to his patrons. But he must also be fair to the people who have placed him where he is.

Worth While Verse

CALLING

Can't you sense a spirit of speaking in the trees,
Just a sound of sighin' in the whisper of the breeze,
Smoky haze a lyin' down the valleys and the leas,
And the fragrant breath of new mown hay;
Don't you feel the thrillin' and the tingle in the air,
Worried birds a thrillin' and a-drillin' here and there?
Nature is a-callin' from the skies and everywhere—
Callin' happy summer far away.

Leaves commence a-curlin' and a-fallin' all around;
Here and there a furrow showin' fresh the broken ground,
Geese will soon be honkin' as they travel south'ard bound;
Squirrels are busy storin' day by day;
Corn is golden yellow, like the even sunset hue;
Stars begin to twinkle like the steel of autumn dew.
Everything preparin' as the call comes siftin' through,
Nature callin' summer far away.

—Griff Crawford.

Of, By, For the People

Stockton Independent

We do not follow Leslie M. Shaw, ex-governor of Iowa and former secretary of the treasury, in his argument that the country is safe under representative democracy, but unsafe in the extension of direct democracy. Our unfitness for direct democracy, according to the ex-governor, is shown by the draft tests that 70 per cent of the American people have the mental grasp and conception of normal children of 14 years of age or under. Accepting the figures for the sake of argument (they have in fact been seriously questioned), we fail to see what encouragement they give to representative democracy or to any kind of democracy. If they have the significance Secretary Shaw assumes, as a disqualification of direct democracy, are they not equally a disqualification of representative democracy? If 70 per cent of the adult population is only of normal 14 year old intelligence, is it any more capable of electing capable representatives than of passing on policies of government? Isn't the grand president of the Morons Club more likely to get elected to Congress than the past president of the Highbrow Fraternity? The pessimistic viewpoint means, if it means anything, that popular government is a failure. Suppose it is, what shall be substituted—a hereditary succession? But history and biology show that the strain, even supposing it superior, does not hold out. Ruling classes have had little to commend them to us.

As a matter of fact, there is little justification for the dark picture. In the first place, the line of distinction between representative democracy and direct democracy is not nearly as sharp as Secretary Shaw assumes. The two overlap and sometimes the one and sometimes the other is in better repute. The phrase "measures not men" used to connote a higher type of politics. Analyzed it placed the issue, rather than the agent, up to the people. In the crisis of American history, the people took the vital questions out of the hands of compromising politicians and settled them virtually by a vote that was accepted as a mandate. And the popular verdict was truer, sounder and more courageous than representative proposals. It is true that in all these issues the measure and the man were formally at least inseparable, but the issue so dominated that the vote was in practical effect an expression of direct democracy.

But direct democracy such as we have adopted is not the theoretical thing that Secretary Shaw assumes. It is hedged about with safeguards against precipitate action. And in practice it has disappointed its more ardent advocates by its conservatism. It takes a long period of agitation to overcome the inertia of the mass to get them even interested in new proposals. The truth is that both direct and

By Berton Braley

I am a peaceful kind of chap
Who jumps a bit at a thunder-clap;
I've never mixed in a bar-room brawl,
I've never been in a scrap at all;
And yet I weary of tales and books
Describing life in the country nooks;
Or business stories of lads who rise
By sheer good conduct and enterprise.

The sort of yarn that is sweet and quiet
Is well enough as a steady diet.
But now and then I prefer to read
A yarn of terror and craft and greed,
With lots of murders and sudden death
To make me shudder and hold my breath;
And scoundrels steeped to the eyes
In crime.

Who sure do give me a bully time!
Bring on the story where teeth are gnashed,
Where pistols crackle and knives are flashed,
Where villains chortle with evil rage,
And bloodshed trickles down every page,
Where virtue triumphs, but not until
I've drunk much slaughter and had my fill
Of plot and counterplot, brawl and fight
With gun and poison and dynamite!

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS

and his CUFFY BEAR ~

~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

Cuffy Bear ran into the ringmaster

And sent him sprawling.

CUFFY BEAR STOPS THE WHOLE SHOW

When Cuffy Bear found himself under the big top he glanced wildly about him. All around the edges of the tent people were packed as thick as blackberries. A fat white horse was cantering lazily 'round and 'round a ring, while a man wearing a tall hat, black and shiny, kept cracking a whip at his heels. The man's back was turned toward Cuffy.

Cuffy stood still a moment. Then he caught a glimpse of somebody running up behind him. He leaped forward. And just then the ringmaster moved directly into his path. Cuffy Bear ran into him full tilt and sent him sprawling upon the sawdust, with his tall hat rolled under the white horse's feet.

The ringmaster thought that a clown had played a trick on him. He made a sudden grab. When his hand closed upon one of Cuffy's hind legs he let go of it with a yell. It was a great surprise to him.

Cuffy Bear lost no more time. He dashed to one of the big tall poles and hitched himself up as far as he could go.

Several men gathered quickly at the foot of the pole. But not one of them seemed to care to follow Cuffy.

Meanwhile the roar from the crowd was deafening. It was ever so much louder than the one that had greeted Pepper the Monkey's performance the day before.

And when a clown picked up the ringmaster's battered hat and handed it to its owner with a deep bow, the audience fairly howled.

Of course the show had to go on. The ringmaster tossed his hat aside and blew on his whistle. The band crashed forth with another tune. And old Smudge, the Elephant, came shuffling into view behind his trainer.

Now, Smudge was an odd fellow. He was so huge and strong that you wouldn't think he could be afraid of anybody. But he was really quite timid at times. Once he had stopped the circus parade because he was frightened by a chocolate mouse that a boy had dropped in the road. He did not notice Cuffy Bear until he had entered the ring where the ringmaster stood. But the moment Smudge spied the bear at the top of the tent pole he raised his trunk and let out a trumpet of fear.

His trainer threatened him with another tune. And old Smudge, the Elephant, came shuffling into view behind his trainer.

Johnnie Green's Uncle Jim came rushing out of the show, calling at the top of his voice, "Johnnie! Johnnie! Come quick!"

Johnnie ran to meet him. "You'll have to go in and get that cub down," Uncle Jim cried.

"That bull's afraid of him. He won't work while the bear's up there."

Somebody clapped a red cap on Johnnie's head. Somebody put an apple in his hand. "Now go ahead in!" Uncle Jim urged him.

Johnnie Green felt very strange as he trotted through the entrance to the big show.
